

Made On A Mac

Version 3.0

This was written, when i wanted money; and fame. My thoughts have changed. I want a lot more than money; or fame. And the way things are; I want good results. These days I think more about having five or more eons to live my life, and my wildest fantasies. Maybe good things will come for me.

Have Hope, Don't Cry

I Didn't have an editor, and was in a great hurry for most of this.

Note: These have been slightly edited. Removed things that no longer are useful to me.

Everything else has been left intact, as it was written.

These are only a version of this file. It is not perfect, nor complete.

Warning:

Don't change my work! Fixing spelling errors is permitted.

I have a wild imagination, sense of humor and am deadly serious. Some of this will make you laugh, some of it will make you cry; all of it is true. At times you may wonder what in the world it was that I was thinking; and you should even disagree with the idea that some things are conflicting. When dealing with everything and understanding how big, how long, and why it all makes sense; it all becomes clear.

The question I ask you is this: What are we going to do next?

I reserve the right to change anything at anytime.

Topic: Good Morning.

This is my second go around with the digital journal tool. I think that I am going to really like it. I have been using paper journals for some time and this will prove to be a great change. even has my spelling taken care of. Cool. I am really hoping for some money that will get me out of this huge hole that I feel I am in.

Most people don't understand how I am feeling or what I am going through. I wish to have my friends near me, those who can give real comfort to me in my time of need. I guess those people are my family. I wish my family here would understand me better.

I now feel like there are so many projects to get done, I hope to get them done in a timely manner. I am taking over the world, or if nothing better change the world to be a better place for me and my family. At the same time I believe that the earth may not be my home.

Where is home?

I am so very bummed, it looks like we didn't get the winning lotto numbers tonight, this is proving to be more difficult than I thought.

Boo! I am so very ready to get my stuff going. this being broke stuff just totally sucks.

Topic: Not Happy

I have begun to loath the fucking stupid fucked up planet. Why is it the things I think I am doing are not the things that are getting done? why do I feel everyone is out to mess up my plans. If I were only where I should have been at the first time. !!!

I need to start seeing some results from my hard work. This place sucks.

Angry and very unhappy for the most part because I have not seen a way out yet. ! ahahahhaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaa

Topic: When will I get what I want?

We didn't win the super lotto on Wednesday, that was really a big bummer. But the chances of getting next Wednesday are good. I need to keep my activity going and not give up. that feels so very difficult for me; but really it shouldn't be. Yesterday I also discovered my class ring was missing, and I lost two of my favorite rocks. boo!!!

On top of all that it has been years since I was able to hook up with a woman and get some relief from my sexual pressure. I would like to start getting laid again. Someday to have a child.

Overall life is really wonderful and it has the potential to become even better once we have full control.

I want root access, to change the world into a better place.

We need to fix this taco up and make them eat their own poop.

I do not want to break my house apart or damage what is mine. Why does this vicious circle keep repeating and messing me up?

I am not sure what to believe, and it would make sense that things are going to be getting really rough for a while. remember to not give up.

For some reason I do not remember what I had to say that was important. I need to start trust- ing myself and get my shit together.

Don't let them win. Chris

Tell fear no every-time it calls !

Win the race to beat the game - do this right the first time. Stop this loop from ever happing again

Win the Super Lotto Jackpot more than once.

Get the tools and toys we will really need

Get the weapons needed to survive this challenge.

Make everything free after my money is spent.

Make this world a better place

No more accidents

No more sadness or lonely people.

No more people trying to control my mind or abilities.

Date: Thursday, September 11, 2003 8:31:13 PM Topic: Dreams & Stu!

I want control of my dreams, that is one place anything is possible, why is it that getting full control of your mind while sleeping is so difficult?

I have had some really strange dreams, everything from sucking my own dick to having sex with the bed that turned into a woman. I have also had strange dreams of nuclear bombs falling out of the sky and not blowing everyone away. The other really strange thing was when there were lots of aliens on our planet. what was that one about?

People told me I would hurt the congregation and that there were other things I would do that are not good. I have to wonder what's up with that.

So I have stayed away as much as I could to do as little harm as possible. I don't want to hurt anyone!

Where are my friends?

I also have to wonder when I can start with a girl friend. Oh ladies where are you ? ?

Date: Friday, September 12, 2003 12:00:35 PM

Topic: In love with love

Wouldn't it be great to be naked in bed with a lady right now?

That is one of the things I sure would like to be doing. That and maybe other things that would keep my mind off of my problems. I would like to have my friends close by again. but only after my work is completed.

What is that job. Leave the Pigs in Zen !!!

I am hoping my nifty little [program] can solve some of my other problems. everything else seems cool. I really like this type of journal and wish I would have had it much sooner. It's not easy when you are searching for the truth, and others fail to believe you. But keep true to yourself and you will have made it! Be true to yourself, and know thy self. those are the things that make ordinary people hero's.

I did my best; always.

do or do not do young Jedi.

Teach yourself to do things,

Teach yourself to become a master.

Teach yourself to listen to the voice of reason and wisdom.

Speak softly and carry a big stick.

I have been stuck in just one mode for a long time, but the time to get out of that is now. It's time to just do it!!! Remove the word (figure out what word I removed) from your vocabulary!!!

Do not even write it.

I wonder why it would be that I want to smoke a cigarette Go figure. You are better than you think, that's for sure. enjoy the game.

Topic: Today

When will today come true for me? I am hoping soon! It's going to be great to get to have sex with the opposite sex and control how lots of other things work. Keep those bastards from burning down the house.

There are lots of things on my mind, like becoming a JEDI, and living out several lifetimes as the characters from my favorite books and movies.

I would also like to do some things with music and see what can be done! The other part that is so very important will be to use the correct drug at the exact time so I can learn to read my books. OK, make it happen.

Date: Saturday, September 13, 2003 10:22:05 PM Topic: Is everything alright?

No I do not think so, and I am tired of feeling like this! When are we going to get on with the real life type stuff and all these other things just go away. I shouldn't have to be so paranoid about life and my thoughts and actions. I miss the days when I thought I owned myself. Maybe now I can appreciate how wonderful life really is.

I need to see actions and results, everything else is just part of the rig a more roll. Find a master to teach me the things a young JEDI needs.

All of this feels crazy. I want to smoke, and now I drink the tap water.

What's up with that. go figure. I don't like what they are doing, it is wrong and they know it. We will have to repay them for their kindness.

Topic: I am really happy to have this Journal software is really great, I always had a hard time to write anything down while at home; the feeling of having to be someplace else to record my thoughts. now if I only had an apple power book. Speaking of which the idea of how to win the super lotto just happened to get inside my head. Count the time between drawings and pick a random time in that area. this way we are getting the really random numbers, but also to win at the game. that will make it more fun. I hope things will start up going well for us, we could really use that. I believe in always doing my best, and keeping my mind out of trouble. I am looking for solutions to the game, we need to find what changes we can make to do the things we need to do.

Topic: idea's on fucking

It is better to cum inside of the opposite sex than to pull out.

And when I finally get together with my mate we will have plenty of wild and crazy sex. We will fully appreciate the love we share, and have the time together that we want and need. Maybe all I have to do is blow myself and that would fix everything? I feel ready for almost anything. But I have many things to overcome.

I am ready to beat those bastards; so we must be ready!!!

And even though there are many we do not trust, I will find those who I can trust with my necessary information. I am really tired of not having the things in life we all deserve, and just why does the world work the way it does? it's too hot, I am too tired of their shit, and horny for a lady. We are going to have to learn how to fix this taco right the first time.

When will my path find success? Today!!! I am hoping for the way to keep everything that is needed out of the wrong hands. Strange thing to finally get in, and then have to start figuring how to get out!!! Maybe the KOI will offer a great solution. Wouldn't it be cool to use the pool for a great big fish tank. he he he he Ha Ha HA!!!

Don't eat crow - that isn't what you want to have to do.

Date: Monday, September 15, 2003 8:26:03 AM Topic: Messing with their mind!!!

I had really wild dreams last night, I was learning how to screw the people who are against me up. And most of the ideas I had were working. That was the funny part. Every time I would figure out a way to really mess up their day. he he he ha ha ha. Happy happy happy joy joy joy. I will teach you to be happy; I will teach your grandmother to suck eggs.

Now if I could only get the right software to do the things I want to do with music I would be very happy. On a side note I am looking for Lady Croft does anyone know where I might be able to find her? I am looking for a way to understand all of this hoopla and going ons. who will save my soul?

There must be some way out of this place. but you have to remember.

I am hoping to win the super lotto jackpot, but that isn't easy to do. I need something in my life to start up again.

Topic: Birthday

Well another year has gone by and I am hoping that the next year coming up will be much better than the last. I am hoping to see the world turn around and start doing something positive. Maybe Tonight I will get one of the best birthday presents ever, That's what I am hoping on. That would be so very great! Please please please give the time, tools, and resources to complete my mission. I hope I am ready for all of the challenges that have or will come my way, and maybe in many ways I can look forward to doing this again.

If you have to do something over and over then it might as well be the very best of SNARK hunts you can imagine. I hope they start using copper for the pennies again, that was a dumb move to start making them of something else. Old money is better. We want to win and save old money . esp. pennies.

I am hoping to be with Shelly, but she needs to be the real thing. No fakes. I will get to where I want to be. Today we are going to take over the world. I have made a few more really stupid mistakes today, Oh if I only knew how to get around all the little problems. Maybe I do know and just have not figured it out yet. But one thing that really bothers me is: am I really in control of my mind and actions? Or what is the truth, who has control and why? Well the day didn't end up like I would have liked it too. I am so very angry about what these people are doing just want things to get cleared up. You know I tried to be nice to them. Don't ever buy gold fish for your aquarium that's one mistake we don't want to make again. Please buy mice. I like this digital stuff. I don't want to keep making the same mistakes over and over, there must be a way to solve the problems, I have so many things to get cleared up, There are so many things to discover about the truth. There are some things you will need to know to do better next time please change your ways, no smoking. Please be nice to your sister, listen to the people who help you and keep right.

Oh what to say on this precious night, life is such a gift, we all need to take special note of what we really have and be thankful for that.

I don't have much to be bummed about, other than knowing that the race is on and the timing must be right on. But we made it last time, and we will make it again. Maybe that is all that matters. But there are so many things that I also want to do while living my life, it's hard to know just where the best places are. I have some ideas and will carry them out. Oh yeah.

Topic: What if?

Ah I don't like the feelings of getting caught, but the same time maybe it was necessary for once. But I am hoping to pull this whole thing off without any major problems. So often I am looking for someone of the opposite sex, to keep me company and share some of the greatest moments of my life with. When will she be there for me and me there for her?

I like my iPod and feel that I am getting lots of good stuff done, but the same time need to be on my guard in a really special way. Are all these people really trying to mess me up? Or is this just a part of my imagination? I wish To know the truth. and that is what I have been searching for this time. What is true?

I want to fix their taco and make a few beavers for eating up Yummy . I have been hungry for pizza and beer too! True.

Why would a young man go from the time of his sexual prime to his 30's and not be sexually active with the ladies? this is a question I must ask because the last ten years have been a total let down, when will I be able to start getting some action? That would be a fair question to me.

Everything else seems like river flowing through it's path, so as water passes through the earth; my life passes before my eyes.

Topic: Personal Happiness

Personal Happiness

Oh the things that I want, some of them are really simple, and just why do I have to go without? I don't want to see my life pass by and not to have lived my life as completely as possible.

I am ready to make love to a lady and keep my good times. How long before it's time to get laid? and will they really like me? I hope they do not lie to me. I am tired and fed up with the bull shit. I hope to win the lotto, that would at least be a good start. I am keeping my hopes easy and simple. but to know when and where things get better. I don't even feel like there is anyone to talk to, and that is because I am not where I am supposed to be. Oh well I have picked the hardest way possible. and just maybe I will make it. I hope so.

Personal happiness is something that comes from the inside, and no one can ever take that away from us. We have gifts we never dreamed of. This world may not seem to be what it should be, but we can get through the maze together.

I hope there will be people who will remember me and can be there for me when things turn around. maybe things will get better soon.

Today is here again and I still have some of the same plans I did yesterday, What else would you expect from me? Sometimes it is hard to know what side you want to be on, really so when you don't know what side you should be on, But I know these things now. Maybe that confusion will be done and gone now. Seems some people want to fuck me over and leave me for dead. I have plans for those kind of people. They will never forget what I will do do them . everything else is just pie. We made it last time . . . We make it this time. should I fall another will come to the rescue.

I love myself and me, And feel very happy to be here on this planet at this time. I want to play chess with my friends, and tag, and see them again like we should be seen. I want to do the important things that need done and think of my friends. I hope you are all above well and better than in a safe.

Use products from Japan.

Drink beer, Coors is good from the bottle not the can.

Don not eat mint milano cookies from pepperidge farms.

I want more for my life than this, but it's so hard not having money and living at home that my mission is almost impossible. Topic: Getting through the day best as I can.

Seems there is no end in sight with the world, so I trudge through life best as possible. I want to shoot some film on my new camera, maybe photograph some good looking models. I like having a laptop again, it's great to be able to take everything with me now. no more being tied down by the imac. I would like to keep both, but if needed I am willing to part with the iMac so mommy can have a computer again too!

When are things going to start to change for me, with my choice of work? I hope to find some people willing to be photographed soon. Probably going to have to pay them $50 dollars and hour just to get them to model for me. Oh well sometimes that is the way things go.

I wish I knew some more people with CD libraries I would like to improve my music collection buy 10 fold.

Travis is growing up in amazing ways, I hope he and Max will be good friends. It's going to really depend upon Max to be a good dog. I really like having my lap top and free internet access is good too! I am still hoping to win the lotto, it would be nice to have enough money to not worry about it. But the problem with having money is you worry about it. I want to get back to living on my own, but this situation is probably going to go on for a few more years. that's fine, but I would like to have my own space again. Space Ranger.

I am tired and Can not fall asleep; too worried about my camera being stolen.

strange that I would worry about it. but for some reason it is logged in the back of my mind. The grey matter at work again.

Topic: Where to now?

So where is the next step for Christopher? I wonder just what to do tomorrow?

I would like to get enrolled in a real photography school and enhance my talents in that regard. there is so much to be done, but at least I have some of the basic stuff out of the way. I hope the work I did today will be good - if it's in focus and the exposure is good I will be happy,.

My feelings are get through the days; without letting too much of life pass me bye. I would like to be a pro photographer and do some really cool photo shoots. But I want to be a rock star too! so little time so much to do.

I need to get back to being stable for a while so my parents will trust me again, get moved out and back on my own and maybe go to school for six months to a year.

There are plenty of things to get done in the next few weeks. I am looking forward to having a great time with my new cameras. There are lots of good people in the world - sometimes finding them is the hard part.

So far today my day has been going really good. I am happy about that. maybe everything is working just right. I sure hope so. School - that is going to be one of my next projects to work out. I wonder if Brooks would still be possible? Maybe I can do some self teaching and work up to the right level.

Christopher.

Topic: not bored with all my cool toys.

The weather hasn't been very good the last few days, makes for shooting less than ideal. I bought my digital camera today; looks like it's going to be great for my photography work, i see my shooting changing and should really take a turn for the better. I hope so. at least there won't have to be any more trips to the photo processing center for 35mm film.

I would like to find someone to model for me to shoot some film on my hasselblad. I imagine it wont be that difficult to find someone willing to have there picture taken. I am hoping to be busy with photography, that would be a nice way to spend some of my time. So far I am very happy with my choices of toys and think things are going very well. I wonder what kind of things to take photographs of. it's really time for me to plug my brain back in and get some creative juices working forward.

having the laptop is going to be great! I hope to use my cameras to the full potential and things should be ready for me to work, now all I have to do is prove to myself what I am capable of doing . the art of photography is being a magician with light, 90% probably comes down to knowing how to best utilize the light as a tool. once that is firmly in place then everything else gets easier.

so much to do. so little time.

Topic: Something to do.

There are plenty of things I want to get done; Everyday the earth passes through space while we are unaware of our own universe. I want to make a set of my desktop pictures available on- line from my web site. I wonder if anyone will ever download my book? I hope someone will read it.

I Wish I could remember what I thought I would write about while I was at home thinking of coming here. what was that one thought that I wanted to put down here. This is my special place where my mind can be free, and I have some extra thought power being in a different location. My room is such a disaster area, mostly because there is no place to put most of the items.

I need a room to work in that is cleaner, maybe some of the garage can be used for my work, Maybe something will turn around and work out.

I wish there were some more things for me to write here, I would like to think of all the items missing from my journals, but somehow they never come when I want them to. I would like for my work to be collectors editions someday.

I wonder if I will go back to visit a strip club again. ? ? I want to have a woman in my life.

Topic: So I placed an ad on Craigslist for a model

So far the only response has been from a plus size model, which isn't really what I am looking for. There is so much to get done I wonder if I can find stephanie bell? would she model for me ? maybe so. I need to find the best way to utilize my thoughts and energy.

What is the point of this work out of the mind? I want to have someone model for me; someone who is beautiful who will have a good clothes and hair. ah I must be such a snob that there is no cure for my social indebtedness .

what do snobs get out of life? we must usually have bad attitude, and think the world owes us something bigger than what we can repay. maybe that is just how I am feeling today.

I don't think I will find what I am looking for online; this is going to take some working to get moving. I am going to need a few friends who are willing to help me out and get some good news about me going?

I so very much dislike the room I am having to stay in; it's too bad cheryl is still living there I could really use the space. It's too cramped for me to be in just one room.

I still have some photo gear to pick up and I hope to have enough money to make it through till the next check gets here. I am looking forward to doing some work here and there. I need the extra activity to keep me busy; but I also hope to do something with my life too. I need this to turn into something for me.

Sometimes I wish things were better for me and Annie, but that might just be a dream. I need to keep the relationships that I do have and keep those who I love close. I just hope I am capable enough to do that. We will see when it's time for choices to be made. Chose wisely!

Topic: what if so what if I should be paranoid for the way things are working out? sometimes things seem strange to me but maybe there is nothing that can be changed?

Today was beautiful and overall a good day. there are lots of things I want to do in the future; I just hope I get to do all of them. I need to find a way to become a professional photographer and build my working history and events.

There are plenty of things to get done; it's just going to take me a while to get in sync with my personal life and what not. There seem to be some very simple things to keep me spinning in circles. Maybe I need to break out of my shell and become something else. That would be a strange thing to have happen.

Finding someone to model for me is going to be a pain in the neck; probably going to have to pay them 50 dollars for two hours. that might be the only way to get the kind of quality and girl that I am looking for. and I really am looking for beautiful faces for my portfolio.

I need to get my digestive system working again, seems right now not to be working like I would like it to be. that is going to have to be fixed. . . .

we will see how life goes and treats us in the next year, I almost don't want to believe another year has passed. what are we going to do with the next year to get here.

Topic: Not so happy

Seems to not be my day today. Didn't win the super lotto; and I feel there are bad people out there who want to scam me. I put an ad out for a female model and the people who wrote back were trying to pull something. Fuck them. !

I am just going to have to pay for female models, which isn't really fair or right but that is what things are looking like. I want to build my portfolio, and get my photography in high gear. maybe I will go back packing soon. it's almost time to go again. Drinking beer and really ready to just call it a night. I really hate the way this world is - it can and often is a really crumby place.

People just seem to byte . . .

I need some love in my life- what is life without love?

Topic: BK today.

Well that is taken care of in my life; I am sad that is what I had to do, it would have been better if I could have paid that off. Oh well not much that can be done about it now. But it wasn't what I wanted. I feel like i need a karma doctor to get me up and back on my feet in this forsaken world.

There seems to be the question of just exactly am I really doing? Do I get anything accom- plished? I am hoping that life has a higher meaning and we will see things more wonderful than we have ever imagined. I have lot's of things to get done, that is wonderful; I just hope that I can start having normal days again and be stable for the duration of time remaining.

maybe today is a good thing; and I just haven't been able to see it as such. But the best part is it's almost over with, and my thoughts take me to wanting to go backpacking and spend a few days outside with just the elements.

I like tools that work like they are supposed to; but tools that are so easy to use that everything simple flows together and your movements become like a piece of the tool. Am I the tool or the user of tools? Somedays I feel like the tool and that doesn't make sense but I would rather be the user of said tools.

I wish I had some contacts for having models work for me that would be cool. Maybe I can find some girls who are good enough for what I am looking for.

Finding a model might be harder than i had expected, will see what turns up in the near future. Maybe next week things will be different eh?

Topic: Just what is up

I am looking forward to moving some sign posts from there current positions to much further down the road. There must be a reason for how things work out; and although I am not sure of my choices - I am getting by some how.

I have been bugged by the insurance deal, not sure if it's going to be what I thought it was, but it should work out just fine. Did I buy the right pieces did I get the right gear? only time will tell - but I have a feeling it's going to all work out for me with just a bit of hard work. Very few things in this life are easy, it's up to me to make my life what it will be; I might as well wish for some- thing good. right?

Someday I am going to have to have my teeth fixed, need to remember to get that done. It should be done early in life so they are strait when I am all grown up. wouldn't that be great. to have a nice smile and teeth.

I want to be free, And there must be someone who knows the way to setting people free. I would like to find what I am looking for and find a way for history to be fixed, why do we keep moving in circles? what else is there to life? There must be some magic involved that we don't see right away. keep looking!

Topic: Seems things are in a funk for me this week.

maybe they will get better. Have reached the peak level of dog poop on the floor that I can tol- erate. the dog shit has to stop here and now. It's time for him to understand about going out- side. In some ways I am not sure why the first thing I bought was a dog but it was. I hope to be able to take care of him. Wonder what will happen if I decide to goto school.

I don't know what I am going to do with my life, sometimes things have a way of sneaking up on you and you then have a big surprise on your hands. I want to use my camera and put some things to good use. I wonder if I will be able to make the kind of art work I would like to create. ? maybe things will get right and my idea's will start getting on to the correct medium.

I am going to need my connections to come through. There are plenty of things To do; and there is lots of beauty in this world; but you have to look at it with rose colored glasses other- wise the grime might show through. I don't know what else to do - seems my days go by and I haven't learned as much as I would like to. maybe tomorrow I will drive down to the beach and take some photos, that would be cool. then maybe visit the HH to take some more photos of things we have all seen before.

There are plenty of things to do and time enough to complete everything.

But the key will be to organize everything from the beginning. Then the music will flow like an orchestra and make a sweet melody.

I just want to get though this and make it to the other side - the real life. I wonder how the dog- gie is going to be. I hope things will work. enough of the piddle it's time to move to more seri- ous ideas, close the doors and lock them.

Topic: Rest before the storm.

Maybe this is just a rest before things break all loose. But it feels like a slump and that there is more I could be doing right now. I don't like to feel like my time is being wasted, that is what bothers me the most, maybe someday I will feel different about this time, but for now it feels like a good portion of my day is given to me and I lack the drive to do something amazing with my time.

Maybe true / maybe not. only time will tell the truth of a mans ways. But at least i don't watch TV and spend my days as a total zombie.

Maybe the thing my days are missing are having the knowledge of what is really true. I feel I know so much, but when it comes down to the grit what's right?

Oh well some things are bigger than we are and no doubt will take some time to get through all of this. for all I know I could be here alone. You never know all the things that are true.

I wonder what my journals will contain when this is all over with. I know there are things I miss and would like to have. everything else is pocket change. I hope those who see this will eventually commend me for a fine job - regardless of the fact it took almost forever. three seconds can feel like a long time if you don't know how long a second actually is. It's been nice having Travis and the Doggie in my life - there is so much training to do there. I hope To have been there enough for the doggie - there are things now that are my job I hope to do exactly right with him and in training him. Some people are very critical; I hope they can learn to see things the way I do.

I feel like I took something and locked the doors up so tight there was no chance for escape. I don't know what else to feel is true. go figure. Maybe I don't want to know it's hard to say at this point. but eventually I will get to go home; even if I did it one person at a time. someday every- thing will be just fine.

It's hard when you are playing against a computer to win. Chess that is. Seems the computer always wins maybe there is only one path to winning. and you have to find that path and stick to it no matter what. that could be some of the problems.

I keep doing some of the same things in the hopes that something will change, but it feels like banging my head on the wall - really ! Maybe one day it will get better, i am happy to have a puppy - I need to spend more time with the puppy than I have been - it's going to take some time to get that straitened out.

I am just feeling a little stressed over how things are going; although nothing is really all that bad I am just hoping for and expecting more than what I am getting. Anyways that is all for my ranting for now.

Topic: Not Sleepy

I should be sleeping right now but I don't feel tired and my mind is being active and telling me all kinds of things about the future and about life. Honestly I don't know what to believe but I know there are some things that are true.

That 's what I am looking for is the truth !

I hope I made a good choice buying the hasselblad; I want to use it for all kinds of things; maybe it will pay off in the long run for me. I don't know what else to do; I shall be a photogra- pher for a few years and see how it suits me.

There are so many things to do too! I want to work with the most beautiful models in Los Ange- les. Maybe that would be fun for a while. And although I might be a bit bored with the attitudes after a short period no doubt I can always change over to something more conservative.

I am glad to have the laptop I think that is going to work out just fine if I can keep me fingers on the key- board and in position to type. blah !

I think I will visit the Getty soon; that would make for a fun afternoon photo shoot. But Not really what I really want to photograph is the moon setting over the ocean in the early morning light. Now that is a great pho- tograph. I just hope to be one of the few who can catch such a shot on film.

I am not sleepy yet and it is 22:24:52 what In the world am I going to do to finish off the day. Make my jour- nal entry on paper for today and listen to some music. I am down to four hundred dollars and wish that money didn't run out so darn fast. Puppy is doing good still going crap in the house; we have to get that fixed as soon as possible. . . We are going to have to work with puppy to make sure he knows outside is where to go. I want to get some photos of Travis and Prince together. I am not sure what there is to be ready about but the idea crosses my mind from time to time. There are plenty of things for me to be doing; why am I getting so little done in a day?

The feeling that I have done all of this really weirs me out; it's strange to figure out what the right choice is and hoping that I made the ones that count the most. Most people don't under- stand there is more to life than most people can Imagine. OK maybe I am ready for bed now. blah! ! !

Topic: How to make it through the dark side of the moon.

there must be some way out of here he said "It's Dark and there are not many places left to hide. " But once there will be a boy who will be perfect and he shall set them free and lead them to places with pools of water.

I am not sure what to do about my digital photography and and the printer, need to find the cor- rect settings to getting good prints from the system. I should be getting one of me first rolls of film processed and that is exciting. I hope it turns out well. I have lots of more things to do; maybe time will be on my side to get everything done. Need to schedule time for the beach shots with the moon. I am looking forward to getting that shot!!!!

What happens when everything gets going to the digital side of things; I hope my choice of a buying a hasselblad was right. Only time will tell; that and my usage and how the pictures get used. I hope to do lots of fashion work. And some abstract artwork that tells a story. For the most part I feel ready to start completing portfolio pieces and my fine art images for personal gratification.

I need to not let the things that are stopping me hold me back from working; it's time to start working in a daily way; first training puppy, then working on my photography skills. I need to carry my light meter with me for a few weeks until I know what the lighting is by just looking at it. I need to know a few ways to get a good exposure for a band playing and how to do that the right way. . .

I wonder about the way I am thinking and just how are things going to get better; it's a question of time - how long can I last and keep my mind?

I hope I can survive this planet and come out of all of this on the other side in one piece. I know there is a way to get through this. Find out what is real and what is true soon enough - enjoy the days of life we have right now. That is all we have - except a good hunch that some- thing is wrong. There is a good chance we will get everything right; at least that is what I am hoping.

Topic: I am feeling more seems like my feelings of having a great deal of pressure on me are still there. I hope that the pressure will get better and the hard part would be over with. That's what I am hoping to be. everything else is just a matter of getting going with my life and doing something productive on my time. It would be nice to have a girl friend ; Why do the opposite sex treat me the way they do? But the same time the problem is mine; I have had great chances and I have missed them . Why? what is the plan that is really going on?

Seems to be a good day; I hope doggy is behaving while being locked up; oh i just hate to have to cage him while I am gone. Not much that can be done about it right now it's just going to take a while for puppy to learn not to chew everything up.

If i didn't feel like I have to go out so much puppy would see more of me; why is it I have the feelings and the need to be out and away from the house?

I am not sure what else to be doing; I guess I can set up and shoot in the backyard to day that would be cool. I wonder how the glass house bit will look? I have been thinking I need to get my film processed so I know just how it is looking and if everything is sharp in my pictures.

Topic: bored need money

Seems to be the same thing every week and waiting for a woman to talk to me with no such thing happening. I am better off just staying home and doing something great. And what of all these other faces? What are they trying to do? They probably don't even know how things are going in there world.

I want to photography beautiful models and create a fashion portfolio ;

there must be something shallow I can do while waiting for the world to end.

I need to learn how to use my camera for a while before sticking my neck too far out there. I would !!! Whew what a nice can that was that just walked in the door. Maybe i need some help; but I would like to think that my thought pattern was going OK. OH please let me be ok when this is all done and over with.

I should give some thought as to what to do with the days of my life. just what do I need to get done and how can I handle the crap that is no doubt coming my way.

There must be some way I can learn to spend my friday nights doing something better than sitting in a coffee shop waiting for some silly girl who is never going to appear. I might as well go buy a porno and enjoy myself. There is a very little chance of getting laid and I am not sure what Kind of work I should be doing? I feel hopeless tonight - seems like I need to be doing twice as much as I am and not sure how to feel about that. When will I start to feel better about what I am getting done and be pleased with the quality of work I am doing? I just am not sure what matters, finding what does it hard.

There must be something cool that I can do, it feels everything has already be done and that any thing would just be a cheep copy. What is true. I am not sure about so many things. I want to create some original pieces of art work things that will last in peoples minds.

One idea is my keep right series. Oh the ways they try to hurt us . Screw them .

I have to wonder what else I can do to make the changes in me to bring things around to a bet- ter way. I need to keep focused on what My goals are. I need to become a master of light and magic with such tools. I have to get my self-respect back to a normal level. it's been a hard road to get to here. There is plenty to do - just keep the faith that things will someday be better - and hold on to the facts at hand. we still have a long ways to go. I am looking for the day the clouds move a way and we see the blue skies of life we have missed so much.

I am not in a bad place, but I do question so many choices and question why for many things that I don't understand. There are memories now - but the things in the future are visions. What and how they get that way I don't really know I just know that right now I want to be further ahead than i am How else could I make it through all of this. I feel like having some orange chicken and getting a piece of that butt that just walked by. Anyways nothing else really going on; I am bored and want to work more. It's what I want for right now.

Topic: things expect from myself.

Seems the things I expect from myself the most are magic and miracles !

I have to struggle just to get through the day; but my time is so valuable I hate to waste my seconds on un-productive work . the things I want to do; photo shoots and creating art work for myself. But what am I going to do with the rest of the time I have ? thankful things are going as well as they are, but feeling impatient on how long things are taking. But things are going right on schedule I hope; many things are by design; and sometimes I feel my life is the way it is for a reason - it's by design. I often wonder by who's design, did I do this to myself or is it the work of God? Who or what is responsible for my life being the way it is? Strange questions get strange answers. be careful what you ask for.

I need something to help motivate me for doing great work; where is it going to come from? I wonder what will be the inspiration for my work. AAAGG Started smoking again I don't know why but that was a dumb thing to do. duh. OH well will have to see where life takes me with time.

Topic: Number of cards in a deck 52. (or 54)

my life feels so serious but I am sure there is some good humor here as well; it's just going to take some work to see it. I need to find a way to get busy during the days. while it's still the possible thing to do.

Why do I feel that my life is so serious and complex? I just need some resources to keep my interest. Waiting for greatness is never easy; it requires some serious hard work to get there. that is what is pissing me off; I need to start down that road of hard work to meet my goals. I know one of the things I want to do; this has been on my mind for some time now why not be a that person? it should be as simple as doing my homework until I reach the point that it's ready for me to become what I want. Maybe I am just bored and am looking for more excitement in life. I want to make movies for people to see. that would be a great job; and it would help me with my personal goals and problems.

I have some personal thoughts that I need to work out and get into here, but they are slow in coming and my mind is really tied up right now with other things. I wonder about lots of stuff; and just keep on going but what happens when stuff catches up with me and then becomes blah. I want to be in the four front of what is coming I need to be there for the beginning of the new world order. Maybe I should write down all the junk that keeps me back and then move past it . . .

There are places to be - so long and thanks for all the fish. sushi night?

Topic: Did I peek in the box?

That is the question that I have regarding my life; I don't know what's going to really happen next but I have feelings that things are going on in my life and it feels pretty darn major to me. but I don't like the feelings of it being out of control - I wish it were better under my control? the idea is to not waste my time on things that are not mission critical . But it would figure that I don't even know what the mission is anymore. too much confusion makes for forgotten days.

I need to get my goals together and work towards them; attend brooks inst., and graduate with a degree in film making. Make great movies for the people to enjoy. Those are some of the things I want to do. Of course I want to be a photographer to get me where I want to be; and photograph some beautiful women in the process of getting there. There seems to be some kind of haze around my future that keeps me from seeing what's next - I hope things that I want. that would make the best way. Seems there would be a way to take the bad things out and make it a simple easy life. That would be very cool.

I am hoping to have some better pictures come in for me. I need to learn how to use my camera - to the full and understanding every angle and photography to the full. Why does it take so long for me to get my stuff together? Seems like this is a long and hard road to get myself through. I hope it's not that I am all greedy driven and nothing else matters. that would be sad. I hope it's only that I am driven by the need for good results in my life and those around me.

I am thinking that there will be something good around the corner for me; Lets hope so the next few months seems so uncertain and unstable. What's going to happen and how is that going to impact life as we know it.

Topic: I will be happy when I finally get my money.

Then i can do fun things like go to Brooks Institute of photography, drive a really fast car, and have a motorcycle that really goes zoom. I can travel and take photographs and enjoy eating out when and where I want to. But there is more to my life than just those things. I will be happier when I can go home. But until then it's really a matter of being able to endure this sad world and make the best of the whole thing.

I just want to be able to do things and go places, have friends, lovers, and people I can talk to about all of this stuff that feels like it's going on.

Topic: There is no time to think about the past...

Now is the time to think of the future and how to get through the hard parts. We don't have time to wish that things in our past were better the real question is could we have changed them anyways? I am more concerned with the future and what it hold for us than anything else. There are all the times people have used me and tried to hurt me or my people. that pisses me off, but those people will learn the hard way: Mess with the best die like the rest. It's really simple and they don't get it because they are so mislead they don't even know what is happening to themselves.

There are things that I need and want to keep my sanity from completely cracking up: access to my friends, a lover or significant other who will be understanding of the things that I must do and tolerate my ways. I need some validation that this is really happening and that this is not just in my head. O please find a way to give me some validation this project is for a good cause and that it's important and I am working for the right reasons. I want to find a way out of this maze and get my head cleared up. It's time to beat the computer.

I keep hoping that this girl will come and find me. It would be nice if that would happen. I don't know what we would do but it would be great to meet her and hang out, maybe make love and keep things real.

But the breakdown is my own and I do not blame her for not being able to find me. But please come find me and let's get together. I need you, I need you to tell me what is truth and to comfort me and to tell me that everything is going to be ok. And I need you to be my friend and maybe more. the point is I am eager to meet and I wish to be in the right place at the right time. That may be the best I can do.

Topic: There is some real needs. . .

I am thinking that what I really need is a good fuck on a regular basis. I need to have some lovers and friends that I can talk to. I want to be with other people and I need human contact on several levels. There must be some way to get the things that I need to get done and still live some kind of life. There must be some way to keep things interesting. Because right now I feel like I am not accomplishing very much. I don't like to feel bored with how my life is going. When are things going to really get started? There must be some way to get things started.

I am waiting for the time when I get to start meeting my friends and hanging out with cool people. It should be a good time when we finally get together. There are lots of things that need done, I hope to do all of those things and much more. I will be glad when I get off of this planet, I just hope that the timing will be working in my favor. It's no fun being stuck here. Might be interesting traveling the universe for a while. There could be some good from that, just as long as I know where my towel is.

Do I have things figured out correctly? I hope so; I would really hate to be wrong on what I am thinking. There must be some way to validate what I feel and think to be the truth. Some things have changed since then but the basic core of my thoughts seems to be intact. Let's just hope and pray that I have my facts straight. Now the question becomes what is the best course of action for the future? That is what I need to know.

there are many questions that I have; really comes down to some of the same questions that I have been asking. Like what is this place and why I am I here? Somethings are difficult to understand just as long as everything works maybe I don't have to worry about how things are going and really just focus on getting my job done.

I need to know what my next steps are going to be; I need to know how to keep up with the pace that seems to be set. Better yet I want to get my head working correctly and set the standards. Sometimes it feels like there are just lots of things. . .

Topic: Must find a way. to make things better. tired of the way things are going, seems like stuff is getting back on track; I simple hope that is true. I changed my mind on that part so I deleted it, and wrote this instead. At some point it will be easy.

But maybe that's not what this post should be about and that is somewhat off the topic. Its just better for me to be able to say how I am really feeling sometimes than to keep that kind of stuff inside. I have to have some kind of outlet that works.

So I want to get to the next level: and I have to figure out what my next course of action is. Sometimes that hard part is playing the waiting game making the timing work and keeping all the junk under control. What I really need is some sex with a female, it's about time to get laid.

The other really important fact is in understanding what this place is; and perhaps I am not yet ready to know, what ever works to complete mission impossible. But I need to be functioning at my very best from here through the very last. And to be on the outside!

I need to write almost twenty great programs; things that change the world and make life better; to make life sweet. The ideas come, and I write them; run them and make things better.

Topic: feeling out of sorts in so many ways.

There are so many things that I need; good information would be very high up on the list. letters from home would be nice. Sometimes things feel so far away. I find myself seeking solutions to problems that have already been solved; and yet I still am looking for ways... how much better it would be to have this done and over with; it would be nice to start working on the future. So many things maybe it would be nice to get all of this done right (perfect) and be where I belong. I have hopes of letters from home, I hope the letters will reach me in time.

There are so many questions, I really need to have things cleared up. The other important thing is to get my head thinking in the way it needs to make this successful and bring us home.

Topic: Things to do.

There must be some way out of here. I have discovered that this place isn't what it seems to be, the real questions we have to ask ourselves is how are we going to prevent this from happening again? We have to get through this, I was so very close to having things fixed, and it seems like my hard work might really be worth while, but I don't want to fail. I am sure there is a way to get us out of this, I need to know things from the past and future, and I must find the correct way to get us through the problems. The only way to do that will be to give God control of things. It seems that I have had an idiot error. That is not acceptable.

There are so many things to tell you, today's date Wednesday June second two thousand and four. History may repeat itself again we need to remember that we are all on the same side and that one of the only ways to have success will be for us to work together from start to finish. I am really very sorry for the things that I have done and wish that history will not repeat itself and that we will all be home together. There must be a way for me to provide the needed information for you to make it through this. Why does this keep happening to me and what will it take to get through this to the end? I thought I was very close to having a successful journey but from where I am sitting now It doesn't feel like I ever really had a chance. I may have created a loop and I want to stop having to go around the loop each time. I feel that I failed you and now there must be some way to make things right. I was sad and alone because It seemed that there was no one here for me; which wasn't really true but that's how it felt. From where I am sitting I don't know what problems you may be up against but I really hope that they are all things you can overcome. Do you know God? Search for him and he will rescue you from your problems. I am very concerned that this life has been a setup for me to fail, I have to ask myself why did this happen like this. I have to wonder which came first the life I am living here and now or something else?

Find God and good things will follow; I don't want to have to go through all of this again. I thought I was a God and perhaps that is true; perhaps we are all gods. I should have done a better job to get us all through the problems. I don't know for sure what you need maybe the best thing to do will be to experiment with as many things as you can. Are things really the way you believe them to be? Prove to your self that things are right and true.

I feel like I should have been a better friend to the people around me, but I was so concerned about my work that I left very little time for the other people in my life. Where did I first meet God? Colorado. I still feel like I am not getting the answers right and this is very distressing.

For all of us to go home we will have to do something really amazing: Help take me through the process of learning and forgiving myself, It seems that I locked the computer up really tight and the best way to get things done will be to go through the computer and find the places that I have made mistakes.

I need to feel better about myself. seems this place needs people who have the courage to change things for the better. We don't want wars, We need to get my feeling in a more positive light. I should have made the earth my home, But I was looking for something that was even more wonderful. I should have been a more loyal friend, I got mixed up in my own little world that I forgot what really matters. Too many people left me alone and I stopped caring about the things that are really important. This place isn't what it seems to be. I seem to know that for a fact. I want to make a wonderful home, someplace that really stands out.

please help me with the creative process, I don't like failure and I find myself so very close to success that I can really feel that one day I will actually do my fathers will, that would make me the most happy.

What is this place, Who am I, and why am I here?

Why does it seem so very difficult to get through all of this? Must bring the end of the system of things sooner. Now I feel that I have let down lots of people, I so wish that there will be a way out for me. I talked to people about what I was going through and no one seemed to understand or know what it was that I was going through. that is a bad thing; I need to do better than that. Everything has a name. Anyways Needed to talk to some one and I hope that all of you are doing very well. Lets work on the the problems together because we have to get through this one way or another. Seems that I have had a lot of bad ideas, at least up until this point. Please help me to do better. I don't want to watch Alice in wonderland again.

Topic: How is it that I am able to do the things that I do?

Why is it that I have done these things and when will I learn to stop doing them. I have divided a kingdom, and now must put the family back together. We need to get relief from the ways that I have been doing things and Christopher must learn to do a better job. I really messed up and I want to correct the problems. When and where will this end? I should have been please make this life a better place to live. I need your help to be successful and their really must be some way to get through all of this. I need to change my ways to be right with the people.

Please help get me out of this.

Topic: Why haven't I figured this out?

Why is it that I have not figured this out and solved the problems? Seems that every day I see the things that are happening and have to wonder about my actions. I should have strait teeth and if they are not strait then I should have had braces. There must be a reason why things are the way that they are, for some reason things are working out to be just too accurate to be chance, why is that?

I hope that this is not a problem of pre-destination and that there is nothing to be done that would change the events that are happening. Please tell me that there is hope for people and that we will get through all of this junk that is keeping me from being successful. I feel like God has punished me for something and that there is no changing the things that I have to go through. But why would God do that to me?

Some things are off and seem to be not working as they should, the problems seem to be all my fault and I am having a hard time with living with the problems that this life is creating for me. Why are things the way that they are? We will have to see what happens with this in the future, but right now my concerns are that this will never change. I need something that is go- ing to work for all of us, all people and mankind. The end seems to have gone on much longer that I would have expected it to. I so very much need to change the past to make this come out right. They trusted me and now it feels like they shouldn't have. Now why is that to be the case why have I broken the trust that they have given to me?

What is real? why have I gone through all of this and still yet have to go through it again? We must keep history from repeating itself, I have had bad ideas and it seems like they have done nothing but get me into trouble. Some where some how there must be a way to keep me from making the same mistakes that have gone on. Somethings got to give. Right now I feel like the only way to surrender is to give up but that couldn't be the answer to the problem, could it?

Topic: I wish I knew the secret to unlocking this riddle.

What is the answer to life? Who will save our souls? I have told some really awful lies and there must be some way to restore the people back to the way we should really be. But the lies are simply not acceptable. I feel like a time traveler who has a great deal of responsibility to- wards all people on this planet. Why did I make things so very difficult and what is the reason for having to do things this way?

We need to make an agreement towards all people for the sake of mankind. I don't even know what to do to fix the problems somehow there must be a way to find the problems in time and not make the same mistakes over again. Sometimes my mistakes work out, but it would be better to get everything done right and correctly so we can all be free from this place. We need to have some peace for our way of living.

Topic: Something you need to know.

You need to know why your life is the way it is, Is this a setup, have you been placed here as punishment? Why does the same things keep happening to you? You seem to be very close to finding success and yet it feels so very difficult to actually make my wishes come true. How long is this going to take and why is it that we have to keep going through this same stuff? Its like the question of which came first the chicken or the egg. You got mixed up about your stuff, I would say that this is something that someone has done to me, the question really is who did this to me and why? How can I pay for my debts there must be some way to keep that from happening again. I believe to know what I have done, I simply hope that we can fix the prob- lem before it's too late.

Don't watch Alice in wonderland! that is very important. How long will God allow this to continue?

Topic: How is it that things are this way?

How can this be true? I don't want to go to prison. But people have asked me if I remember it, and they also ask me how many people I killed. I always believed those things to be false. How do I keep the same things from happening again? Please someone help me find a way to change this. We don't want to go through that again. But I feel so trapped and so helpless that I am really considering the fact the my no longer matter. How can I save something that is so big?

Baptized July 25, 1992 at the Norco Assembly hall.

I feel like I am really into something deep here and I need to find a way to make things better, at least for myself. I hope I have my dates figured out right there seems to be some real major issues going on here and I am not sure why things are the way that they are, but I feel trapped and that is a bad feeling.

There are some very uncool things that I have been up to and I need to know how to make myself stop doing these things I feel like this is a phase and that it will end shortly and things will really pick back up for me. I hope so because the feelings of failure are not acceptable. Their must be some way to fix the problems that are facing me. I feel their must be some way to win and the only way to get through this is going to be I thought I was going to make things happen a particular way why is my life turning out like this? Please find a way for me to keep from loosing hope! so far things are not turning out the way that I have expected them to and that is really start- ing to bother me I need this to turn out really good. I hope that I know how this ends and if it would end the way I hope it does than everything is going to be just fine.

Please make sure that this story has a great ending with all of us restored to where we belong out side of the computer and that all will be forgiven. And history will never have to repeat itself again. How long does a revolu- tion take? I am thinking it will take 5000 years, but it would be better if we could do it 2000 years.

I need people to trust me but at the same time am I worthy of being trusted for the kind of mis- sion that we are working on? I believe to know what the problems are and feel that this world and planet is really part of a computer that we need to know how to program find ways to solve the problems but the only way to solve these problems is for the solution to include everyone. If they try to fix this and fail to include everyone they will only have problems worse than they ever imagined. We need to all work together in order to find a a way to fix some- thing that is broken. I do not believe that this will be lost forever, today we will find a way to to change the past and we are sure to be released from this prison that keeps us locked away from knowing the real life.

I hope that my brothers will be able to program the computer from the outside to make my problems fewer and actually make the time go by faster. wouldn't it be nice for the problem to pass away and for all of us to be home together again! I only wish that someone would have helped me sooner to understanding that there were these kind of problems. I don't want to spend the rest of my life in a prison. I would much rather find a way to pay my debts and be pardoned from the sins that I have committed.

Topic: About the only way to explain what I am going through

I feel trapped and I believe that history is repeating itself, I have to change my habits and my way of thinking. There must be some way to put the kingdom back together and send all of us back home, outside of this computer. So why is my job so difficult? I see myself as having the success and often times it is so very close that I know if I can just make my body take its commands there will be success.

Someone is going to have to keep me from smoking, it seems that I want a cigarette. I feel sad because I don't know for sure if this turns out the way it is supposed to be. I feel like I screwed things up and that is no way to be feeling, especially if everything can still be saved. I just hope that we can save it together.

There is an idea I have about the kingdom of the heavens and just what does that include? There must be some way to make my idea a reality! But the difficult part is going to be knowing what is and what isn't. What I really need to know and have the right to know is: have I been setup to live this life and fail? People have asked me if I remember prison. I know I have lived this life once already and that I have been there too. The question is when do I actually get to come home and be free from this terrible place? I hope that I can be loyal to the people who have trusted me to do my job; I had damn well better be.

Things to remember:

1. Time travel makes for strange events, be friendly with everyone.
2. Even if the world ends its not the end of life.
3. This is very likely an adventure game How many real people are here is unknown

Is this something that Ansel Adams has done to me and trapped me here. that is no good there must be a way to wake up. Other wise This is punishment from God for my sins. Or there is a good chance this is simply an adventure game with two groups of people us and them, them being aliens. I have to ask my self why I would split the kingdom in such a way, I really wish that I knew the truth. But better than that I wish I knew how much longer this will have to go on.

Topic: I don't Understand

When will my day come that makes it possible to win at this really crummy game called Life? I feel so close from time to time, had I not lost my control over the computer things would have been even better, now all that is left if for me to do this again, somehow there must be a way. I wish I knew what I am really up against because there must be some way to fix the problems before they get out of control.

There seems to be a few problems, one I was messing around with a girl when I should have been keeping my watch for problems. How do we correct the problems of the past so that I don't make the same mistakes again? That's a question of is this life really programed or are there places that can be corrected? I wish that the next time I have to do this I really do fix the problems. That would be so cool. The thing that is needed most is to fix the problems, I feel like I know the answers most of the time, but something has held me back.

What I really need more than anything is to know what is true about this place, and who am i, why am i here, where is this place, when do we get to go home? There are things that don't make sense that for some reason I have not had enough time to figure out: Why do things happen the way that they do; is there a reason that my life is turning out the way that it is. Where did I go wrong in my life, how long have I had control over the outcome of my life? I didn't know what I was doing until recently but that probably doesn't help make things any better. All I want is to be restored to the kingdom of the heavens; and everyone else will be there too. Then one day god will give us the prize for having completed the game. How I wish that this would be true; that's where my mind is at.

I am very concerned that all of the choices have been made for me and that I am only a passenger as to what happens. I hope that is not really true, but if it is true then I have hope that as a passenger there will also be a day that my wish of being restored to heaven will be granted. Somehow some way; if God would only forgive me for my sins. Seems that I thought things that I didn't say, there is real need to say the things that you actually think.

I am also concerned about the lives of many people there must be some way to keep things from being lost. What are we going to have to do to find a fix to all the problems?

Topic: I am in need of some good advise.

I have been doing all of this on my own for too long, there must be some way to solve the problems or at least make the problems for us seem so small and trivial that they are not even considered problems. for some reason there are things that I have forgotten that I don't want to forget again. I have to do better in my mission and the things that I am working on. I need the right tools, and then need to know how to use them. There will always be a way out for us. My feelings of low self esteem and failure are not acceptable why have I let me self get to that point and why have I treated myself that way? I still don't understand what is being done to me and why this is happening to me. I have ideas on what is going on and there must be a way to make it stop. So how do I figure out what others overlook?

I feel like there are many people that I need to be more honest with and that need to make things right, but I am starting to feel like I know my friends from my enemies. I feel like I want the end to come and make things start over again to save the world from having to go through all of the awful things that are looming before us. I hope to know the truth and understand what is really true, and then have my actions in line with those truths.

Topic: there are so many things to understand

I only wish that I would have understood the things that I have been working on sooner. Or better yet I hope this has only been a training period and that I will do better in the future. I have some really strange feelings and I am not sure if I want to explore all of them. But what I do not want is to fail at my mission.

The lives of my brothers are simply too important for me to risk any further mistakes, how much longer will this cycle last? I know things are going to get better, but how do we overcome the problems? Simple, we make the best of what we have and learn from the mistakes of the past. I feel so very close and I do not yet know if my way is going to work. Are my people safe? Do they have the things they need? Are they home where they belong? I hope so. I could deal with that. My being here is only for two reasons: 1. Send the brothers home; 2. Win the race, beat the computer and request the prize.

Topic: Feelings

It doesn't feel like I am getting anywhere with my project, seems like I have only created further problems for my life's challenges. How do I make it through this and get to the point where things will work for me in the way that they should? I need some friends who are true. Some how I feel that I am in this all by myself and that very little will really matter. Is this a ride or is this a movie; maybe this is life but how do we make it through the impossible to create a better life for all that we can either all live with or at least keep together until all of this is really over with and we are back home where we belong.

I am at the point where I do not know exactly what to do next or how to improve the situation for the better of everyone that is involved. But here now I am somewhat really worried that I am in this ride and there may not be anything that can be done to change that. This would be easier if someone could give me answers to the questions that I have. Much easier.

I feel that I have enemies in this life and that there are people who do not want me to be successful; I want to overcome all of those problems and see this through in a way that makes my father proud. And I want to accomplish my mission and return home to the family that I love. It's really awful to be trapped in this computer. I wish there were someone that would come to my rescue and help me get away from all of these problems.

Did I know what I was getting into when I signed on with this assignment? I have to wonder if I knew what I was doing when it comes to choosing this. How long will this last and I hope that the bad parts go by quickly, no one likes to have to experience the bitter parts of life. Make life sweet.

Topic: There seems to be a reason

For the way that things are; but it would sure be nice to know what the reasons are for the way that things are. It is better to understand a situation than to be unaware of the problem. I have some good reasons to believe that things are going to get better, and even some ways to solve the problems. What I need is to build on the skills that I already have and improve on my thinking ability.

Someone has tried to do something really mean to me; I just want to get the problem straightened out and put things into a kind of order that makes sense to everyone. There are people that I don't want to trust and there is one person that I must trust. I am looking for a Travis who will help me through this maze. But the people that I don't want to trust are Mike, and Zona, probably rusty too. But I don't know who to trust here and it's not easy; but one day it will be very clear as to who to trust and what to do to save today.

Make the best choices you can every day; this isn't over and it can still turn out very good. Its going to take some really amazing miracles but we have hope that it will turn out for the best.

There are things going on; things that people don't want you to figure out. But maybe it's best to know what is going on for the overall good of everyone.

There are plenty of things that need to be understood; search for the truth, and the truth will set you free.

Sitting here now it's very difficult to know what the truth really is: If you can answer the ques- tions of;

1. where are we. 2. Why are we here. 3. Who am i. 4. What is this place? 5. when do we get to go home.

Then you have a good start to knowing the truth.

without breaching confidential information It's difficult to tell you what is really going on; here are a few ideas. You wanted to be a god and this is training towards becoming that; maybe this will be the last cycle that is required to complete your mission. Your father wouldn't leave you stranded forever.

This is part of a game that involves a computer and your job is to figure out how to get every- one of us re- turned home. Just hope that there isn't an accounting problem. I hope that the days will be cut short that we do not actually have to experience the entire cycle all the way around.

There is some one very important that you never want to forget; just keep your shit together and you will have the ability to figure out what is going on. Just keep thinking. There are plenty of people that want to fuck you up; just be careful when you are making friends. Friendship with the world means enmity with God. Don't forget. But who is the world and who is no part of the world?

Topic: Changes that need to be made.

I have been trapped in a bad movie, and I so very much want to change the way things are go- ing. I feel like I am not where I am supposed to be and that there must be some way to get back to where I belong. I really need to find the truth. But I also need to find the true religion, I need to find what the truth is.

Would it really be easier if I knew what it was I was up against? Maybe, maybe not. But if I can do this with out having to think about it that would be great. Just as long as I really accomplish my mission to its success. The stress I have been under is almost overwhelming and right now this phase is not a good one because it feels like there is failure and I don't like that feeling. Right now I feel I have not taken the kind of care that I should and what I would like most would be to re-write this section for next time. But on second thought I was careful in the up- most and only didn't know who Travis was or Charles.

Changes:

1. Buy the Horse in the Antique shop; this is important.
2. Stay out of the Church of Scientology. That isn't where the father is.
3. Get the alpha the first time.
4. Cheryl Gets a C-Section on Monday for her Child on 7/24/2000
5. Give God to whom it belongs. God knows which way is up.
6. The world we share with Travis is a great place and we are best buddies.
7. This world is not a prison for me and my brothers; we are all Guests.
8. Darkness is better than being burned by the furnace.
9. Say Jehovah's name when meeting with Charles on April Fools day.
10. and thousands of other things.
- 10.5 Take the tie at Sweet Daddies when it's offered.
11. Remember what I know now without forgetting; but to know sooner would be nice. 12. Don't freak out when dealing with difficult things. It would be better to simple deal with them and move on.
13. Oh the things that we are going to have to fix, We can fix the things. 14. Send all of the boys back home.
- 14.5 Celebrate your birthday .
15. ArrowPoint Buy the best you are worth it. Remember this.
16. Do it Dave's Way.
17. Find the right answers before it's too late.
18. Write a book for Travis to let him know how I really feel.
19. How I long to be home.
20. do not split the kingdom.
21. Don't make the same mistakes as last time.
22. Go see Grandma Annie???
23. Bless america
24. Don't write a book. Please please please don't write a book. If you do make it's value $42.00.

Topic: What is the deal

How are these events related and why do I keep making the same mistakes? Really what is it that I am into and how do I change these events for the better of everyone? I feel that there are people here that are not real. Am I into this alone?

Why is it that I have not developed all of my abilities to meet the needs of the challenge that is set before me? Why does it seem that this is such a difficult job to do something that is impossible doesn't mean that the job can not be done; only that it is very difficult. Who do I trust in making my choices? Seems like there are plenty of things that could be done; which ones are right?

Something is wrong, there must be some way to make both sides happy. What is the deal with the two sides and why do we have the kind of problems that we have. Have I been led to believe a lie? Really it comes down to searching for the truth. But it's going to take great skill to pull this one off.

So it seems we are stuck in a loop, but is there time to make life good enough to make the loop worth while? I hope so there must be a way to do something about what we are being faced with. I have to show up in the place that I really belong and not be here again; this just isn't working, at least that is how it feels from here.

How are we going to know what the truth is?

Seems that people do not remember what I have done for them in the past if anything, maybe we need to find a good way to make things meet up.

What is this about? Cats and Dogs? Aliens? A game? A computer game? or is this just life?

I don't believe that all of this is real, I believe that there is something more to what is going on. We are far more that we have ever been told we are. But I want to go Home back to what is real. Why is it that I am not permitted to figure this out? What is the reason that I do not have better understanding of the situation?

This seems like a gross wrong in life; something that really should be corrected.

What is it that I am up against? These people are starting to make me feel regret for not being a really horrible person. I should have done something about them a long time ago. But I was waiting until I understood the situation before making rash choices. If I have a key how do I use it? What is the way to unlock the secrets of life and unlock this prison that keeps mankind locked away? Someone tell me please at the time when it will do the most good when I have the power to make the changes needed to win the war.

Signs - Read the signs where you are going. are you getting what you think you are?

Not real people - How many of the people in this place are real, take care of the real ones. Star bucks. - Oh gee like lets not even go there. Not open for conversation.

There must be some way to keep me from having to be in the situations that I am in; why are we working things the way that we are? The real question now turns into who do I trust to work with me? I am sure there are a lot of good people out there that I could turn to; but which ones are really on my side?

It would be nice to know what the end goal is... Ah some level of understanding.

Computer Game that has two parts. But I didn't do it in the right order should have gone to prison first.

then played the game. So now what is it that we are really facing?

So do we trust the people that ask us about having been to prison; Yes; but we need to keep that a secret.

But I might have blown that for this time there are only two people that I trust with that Carla and one other chap.

There must be some way to save that that which is needed.

I hope that things are getting better. Overall we should have fewer people trapped in the com- puter than last time.

Topic: The problems feel like they have taken a whole new turn

Perhaps the problems have taken an entirely different turn; but yesterday felt completely over- whelming. There must be something that can be done to help me in this awful feeling. There is much work to be done, and some how I must complete all of my projects. Maybe there is really only one project and my time is always given towards that one thing; but what ever I do may my dealings be successful. I feel like I have figured out the rest of the pieces to this silly puz- zle. The question now is how do I fulfill my time here in the way that best suites everyone in- volved in the project. We have to have some course of action that will make sense as to why we are here and what we are working on.

Did I buy into something that is a lie? I hope not, but some how I did get off course from the truth. Now I believe there are two or three groups in this place that are working against each other. But this is about more than just religion. Maybe all of this has to do with myself and what kind of person I am. I hope to be worthy of all of this and more; a loyal friend and the one who will one day claim the prize of life.

To conquer the world and all that is in it; to overcome all obstacles, to face the enemy and live to tell the tale. But what I don't want is to suicide in my mission. There must be some room left for escape. How do I get out of here? How do we all get out of here? At least those who are my friends. Someway somehow we all need to get through this and escape with our lives. I really hope that the only people left here are two; and that all of my real friends have returned home with the father. I want this adventure to have a happy ending and return home to those that I love.

there must be some way to get all of us through this and to a better place. Have I been working on the wrong side of all of this? I hope not, maybe I have been where I could do the most good, but I hope that the price is not too expensive. What comes after this: I hope that it's something that we can all deal with.

Topic: Wanted: Good information

There may be many things needed at this time; but of all of them having good information seems to be one of the most important. We need good information to make the kind of important choices that need to be made. I feel there are strange problems that I do not yet understand. I am having a very difficult time with this and I only want to make it easier for all of us. What did I do wrong last time?

I feel that the game is real, what I don't know is how many people are still involved and how to get as many of us out of the computer as possible. Maybe this has already been done, and I am just worried about having done my job correctly.

Topic: Seems there are a number of things that need done.

I am not sure what is really going on tonight, but I know that I would like to get free from these thoughts.

But what I want more than that is to do my job right this time and every time. Sending the boys back home is my main goal, if that turns out to be a wrong turn as to where the problem is then the next best thing would be to have accurate knowledge of what the truth is.

Somewhere there must be a way to make the situation better, How long does the process take? I wish that I really knew. I believe it should be set to take 5000 years, that would be nice. I really need to get my shit together and discover what the truth holds for me. Maybe there is something different about the situation that I do not yet understand. Why have I had to go through this cycle of feeling a failure? Somehow We have to make it and there must be some way to keep our spirits up. I need to make some good choices and make the best choices that can be made. But I don't want to be led astray again. Give me good information and the world will be made a better place.

Topic: Here are a few of the things that you will need to know.

I feel like the end has come and we are close to great evil. You need to stay focused on the positive things and keep your senses. I want this ride to turn out better than it did last time, some how there must be a way to do that. You have some great programming skills and can get anything accomplished with the right thoughts. Everything has a name; remember that.

This game is driving me somewhat to the edge of sanity. I want to do better but these people that are pushing me around are really starting to bother me. It also makes me question the game and question if maybe I am not dealing with a more serious problem than even I was aware of. But I will stick to thinking about the game and how to send all of the brothers back home to be free from this computer and free from having to relive the same set of things over and over again. The good news one day even I will be free from this place. I don't know what I have done or what I am responsible for but I have ideas that this is something really big and that you don't want to screw this up.

There is going to have to be a day when we are; something has to be done to make all of this better.

Please give me the solutions that are required to solve this mystery. Places answers can be found, In the bible, in your journals, This is going to get difficult and you really don't want to have to go through this again. It would be nice if I could change the things that need changed to make life better for all of us.

There are so many things that you have done and configured that it would take a few days to write all of them down. Lets just say that they are screwed. Don't smoke camel cigarettes unless you want to be a terrorist.

Jehovah is my rock. You need to figure out who you are and what kind of person you are. I believe that you are a great person and that you have much more power than you think you do. Keep on living.

All of the things that you have done and how to escape from the puzzle so to speak.

To escape a grain of sand use the door. Tell people who are your friends.

Green light in the corner of your eye, Someone is masturbating to you.

Don't smoke my cigarettes. . . The nicotine content is too high for smoking more than three a day.

Fairy in your eye; cut an opening in the side and let the fairy out. Eye will return to normal after this.

There are so many more things that it's hard to imagine what I have done. I know that I don't want to punish myself anymore in anything that I do. Keep me away from model rockets as a kid.

green light in the corner of your eye means ok to date. red light means stay away.

Topic: My questions about what is this place.

I don't really like all the answers but these are only possibilities.

1. God is punishing me and all of this is part of a prison. This doesn't explain all the other people here so this one doesn't make a lot of sense for my thought process.

2. This world is part of a computer game We might have two groups of people present us and them. But the goal is to send the boys all back home. Someone please tell me how to do that please.

3. Something else so amazing that it would boggle the mind as to what is real. But I think that I even have that figured out to a point. I just hope I have my shit together.

I have to ask why I have asked for the things that I have: even as a young boy I should have asked for better things. Why would I have asked to be the son of destruction? It just doesn't make sense to me. I don't ever want to do that again.

Something must be done about the problems and correct what is happening. I simply will not go through all of this forever. No one should have to. We need to bring new items into the game each time we play, something that will change our actions for the better. I would like to bring my memories, and write a book that would help me through all the important parts and facts. I wish I could add a few friends that would be there for me during the last few years I have really needed someone to talk to.

I have been confused about things because of the problems with time travel. Some things have been happening out of order and I owe lots of people an apology. I didn't even take care of my own people when I was supposed to. Life can be made sweet, that would be nice. I don't like the idea of failure and I don't like the idea of this being a suicide mission, I wish to escape from this place; on the right day, Today.

I don't know if I want to ever have to go through this again for some reason I feel like I am getting tired of these painful experiences; must make it better or stop doing it. Too bad more people are not there to help me. this would be so much easier with the right people in the mix.

Topic: Thoughts

You need to be very careful with how you think,

Be careful with the things that you ask for even in your own mind.

Be careful what you wish for.

And what ever you do don't think that you would give things up for something else. Never think, I am sick, I am dying. or similar ideas like that. Be careful what you think.

Be careful to always say what you are thinking; it will save lots of hassle latter.

Topic: There are so many things that I wish to get made right.

I made all the efforts to get the job done; but many would not help me. This is sad. I would like to have the help of the right people so that things are made better. The part that is difficult to understand is why I didn't know the answer all along? Maybe I did and this is just a part of the ride.

Whatever the case may be there are plenty of things that I should have done better, it's not easy to have these kind of cares and hopes. There is so much to have to do, I hope that I have completed my mission to the best as possible. Perhaps I should have been a better God, then we could all be saved the problems. There is no doubt in my mind as to what is true, now the only things left are to make life sweet and have forgiveness of the many things that I have done to my brothers.

Topic: This place is pushing me to be the very best that I can be.

Seems like my hopes are low for where they should be, they keep me placed where I can almost see the way things are but something is holding me back. The fact that I feel the rules are not set up to be kind to me. This would be a lot easier if I had know what to look for and what to expect. Sure it's fun to figure all of this out, but it would be better to get things right and do my job in the way that meets or exceeds everyone's expectations. I hope that we don't have to go through all of this again; it's getting to be somewhat of a bore. I can only hope that people haven't done bad things to me, I am starting to not like the feelings that are coming out of all of this. Someone needs to help me, I am doing the best that I can but I want to know that I am on the right track. I don't want my enemies to over run the place or have more control than they should.

Somehow there must be a way to know what the truth is and how we are going to deal with the things that come up.

Topic: How do we keep the same mistakes from happening?

People we have to do something about how my life keeps turning out, I feel like I don't have any choice over how this happens and I am starting to get really unhappy with the results. When is it going to get better? There was so much confusion to have to sort through, and so many doubts and fears that getting through this seems like an impossible event. Please don't leave me so alone next time, there must be some way to let me have a few friends that I can talk to about this stuff.

I didn't really want much during the last two years that this has been going on; some friends and female companions. Most people wouldn't take the time to work with me or be there for me. Now it's true that there are a lot of things that I have done some of which are not good, but that doesn't make me a bad person.

Who was I supposed to trust in this matter? Somehow I have to ask if my feelings are all straight in this matter.

I feel like this life has been a setup somehow people have been playing me against my own people; this is not acceptable. But I also feel like I am in a bad program that is keeping me from reaching my full potential. Somehow I have to do better but no help came. Will it always be this way? I hope not. I am looking forward to the day we are all free from the computer and this is only a memory. What do you want to do?

I want to go home. I believe in something that would make all of this better what's it going to take to get there? All I know is that it is time for that dream to come true. You would think they would learn there lesson and stop messing with us. How many times must they get burned before they figure this one out?

There must be a place where we decide to get along and stop the stupid stuff that keeps everyone from getting along.

I want to make the problems of the future go away, and the problems of the past history.

Topic: There seems to be a problem

I have been looking for answers and solutions to my problems but it seems that I haven't been as good as I should have been; Maybe I did perfect, but that would be really amazing. I still feel like I messed up, why the problems I don't know. It's not fair.

So I don't want to believe that we are trapped here with no hope of getting out, but I have made some really bad mistakes getting to here. Seems the problem was that I didn't buy the right network gear, I should have purchased Arrow Point. I hope that you can forgive me, for that matter I hope that I can forgive myself. Maybe there is a way to get around this problem, but it requires changing the future.

The problems feel like huge waves rolling down and crashing into one another. but there must be some way to bring order back from the chaos. To restore the balance and change the things that need to be changed.

Topic: So is this life a setup

I would prefer to believe that I have already completed my mission, and this is only replay, but somehow that doesn't seem right. How have they set me up like this to fail? I will not believe or accept we are trapped here forever, but what is really going on? I wish that I knew and understood what I know now much sooner. Things have to be done perfectly from here on out. it's the only way to make it through this; or rather one of the only ways. How am I ever going to get through this and more importantly how am I going to forgive myself?

I feel so very trapped, all I really wanted was to go home and how is it that we are going to get home now? There must be some way to get out of this prison. How are we going to make the world a better place? I did the best I could to do something about the problems. But did I fix the problems right the first time? Now the idea of having to live with the past doesn't make sense, there must be some way to fix this.

But I need everyone's help to do so. People shouldn't have left me alone this whole time, it seems that I could have done so much better.

Topic: I can make it better

I have the hope that I can make the situation better and that there is every reason to believe that all is not lost. The problems seems to be not with my computer or anything else but with me. I was so close to making everything work and it seems that there is only one thing that was getting in the way of my success. And that would be the network equipment I purchased. Either that or there is something else that no one is telling me. I am so ready for a change in a good way that nothing else seems to really matter. I don't want to go through the things that might happen. I feel like I am starting to loose it, my comfort levels are all wrong and I feel like there needs to be more hope for my people. I am to the point where I can take no more, something has to give in or give up completely. What is the worst that could happen? I doubt it would be that bad. There must be some reason to keep going and to not give up. How can I make the situation better? By doing the best that I can do. There are some real strange things that are keeping me from being the person I want to be, but nothing will hold me back from being successful.

Topic: Not all hope is lost

So even if I have made a few bad mistakes there is still reason to believe that this can be saved, but I have to get to being honest in my thoughts and actions. I want to find a way to make the world a better place, but it seems that some of my actions have been counter productive. Why is it that I have not figured all of this out until now? I don't know what I was thinking when I set this up, there must be something that was in the plans to make this come about. I just need to know what the plan is to keep up with myself.

How long will this be allowed to continue; only a short while, and there is nothing here that is really permanent. So how long before things get really better for everyone involved? I hope it's just one day away.

This would have been easier had I known what it was that I was doing. But I did the best that I could each day. I want to do better next time, we need to all have a better future. I wish I knew what the problem is.

Some how there must be a way to help me get my shit together and do a significantly better job.

I am not happy with how this is turning out, I want the greatest ending the one where I can claim the prize, there is really no reason to have to keep going through all of this time and again. Today we will get to go home. But I should have never asked to come home on christmas, It would be much better to come home on my birthday. But I want my brothers and sisters home in time for supper.

Why is it that no one would help me? There must be some reason why things are looking like this. It's too bad that things didn't turn out better; which is what I want.

A lot of people don't trust me; this seems to be where one of the mistakes is at, that and my friends left me alone for too long.

Topic: The wave

I am not sure how this works yet but I have a feeling that if someone waves with their left hand you should wave back with your right. Keep right.

Sometimes it seems like everyone dislikes me, and that I don't have a chance at all, but I don't believe that someone should have talked to me more about the problems. There are really only a few things that need done and when those things get completed it will be easy to send me home. My brothers and sisters all get to go home before I do.

Topic: Tired of the game

It has really started to get on my nerves, and I can imagine it's going to get on everyone's nerves before this whole thing is over but what matters is that we really do all get to go home. What's it going to take for me to get my stuff together and make the right choices? I feel like I have made bad choices up to this point and now the idea of having to live with the mistakes I have made just doesn't seem fair to me.

Is there no one that can help me? I should have gone to the book study more often and found a way to have kept up with the org. All I really want at this point would be to change twenty or thirty things from the past; they have to be very specific things but that is one of the things that I want at this point. Going home would be the best option. There are so many things to tell you and not all of them are appropriate. But someone has to hear my case out and if there is no one to hear the case why would God abandon me?

I don't believe that God will abandon me, but I do want to know when this nasty mess is going to get cleaned up? I don't want the loop to go on for an infinite amount of time, May God have mercy upon my soul and the souls of my brothers and sisters still inside of this place. I feel like there are so many things to get done it's not going to be easy to make my dream come true. It would be easier to know what the problems are.

Personally I would like to get out of having to go to hell, maybe we could work something out that would work better for me and my people; Darkness works better than going to hell.

Basically I am tired of having to deal with all of these thoughts and pressures; not knowing where the problem is and if I am ever going to solve it really bothers me the most. Please don't leave me to doing this all by myself. The only ways seem to be changing the past, or the future; either way if we change the right problem then we have an almost guaranteed formula for success. Did I know what I was doing when I set this up? I believe I must have, so now it's just a matter of riding the ride. The idea is to do better each time we play. People have messed with me, and to be honest I am really tired of it, there must be some way to make the game go by quickly.

Topic: We need to change that.

There are so many things that need to be changed, somehow there must be a way to keep my head working right, why is it that the powers that be have set this kind of trap for me? Some how I need to make the outcome turn out to be the way that it should be. I need to be able to do the things that need done; father I wish to come home, please change my life course into something that I can live with. Why do we have to go through with all of this again? Is there a course of action that can be taken that will lead to the results that you want? Someone needs to show me the right path that will lead to lasting happiness.

What's it going to take for me to win at this game? Something has to be done to make all of this turn out right. Show me the path that leads to lasting happiness. I want to come home with glory and honor. at this point it doesn't matter how we get home as long as we get there, what- ever it takes!

Something has to be done to fix the problem and I feel you are the only one who can do it, but perhaps this is up to me? There are so many things that I don't know yet, it would be nice to know every thing. When will you let me come home?

We need to come to have an accurate understanding of how things work on this planet; when will we work together again? thats something that I am looking forward to. I have grown tired of this game and long for the day when freedom will be ours. We had time but it seems that things are locked up now, we are going to have to do something really amazing to break free from the chains of this slavery. I believe it can be done; but what it's going to take I don't know, perhaps just planting my garden in a better way will make it possible to get things done, but you are going to have to remind me of what needs done to make this possible. Please let me get things right this time; or next time if there is a next time. Either way it's important that we solve this problem right now.

Something gives me the feeling that unless I solve this puzzle it's going to be a bumpy ride; what will make the game so that I can solve the problem?

Topic: I am looking for a way to get home

This road seems long and it feels like it's not going to get any easier. But what if I could make it easier? wouldn't that be nice to make this ride as smooth as possible. Surly there is a way to make that come true. I feel like I screwed up today in a big way, another mistake that will no doubt be brought to my attention. So far my mistakes seem to out way the number of positive things done. Well the only person to blame is myself. That's what happens when you don't know what your doing.

Wouldn't it be nice to know exactly what it is that your doing so you can make the right choices? I seem to recall that both sides wanted to take me out; just because that's how screwed up my actions where. Well enough of that kind of behavior. I say everyone should put there flags out and stand tall and proud. Some day things will be different; of that I am sure. So far I feel like I was born into something that is keeping me down or holding me back, why would I do this to myself? There are only two answers 1. I have a plan, that's really good. or 2. this is something that was done to me by God as punishment for my actions. Now I don't want to believe that number 2 is true, so for my part there must be a better explanation.

Where are my friends and when will we actually get together again? How I long to see them.

May God give me the skills and power to survive this world and the things that will take place, but also care for all of those who are also on our side.

Somehow I get the feelings that my life has been a setup, but how can this be. I don't know how I have known things even since being a child, how is it that this can be like this? My mind tells me that this is something that I have setup myself and that this is something that I myself have designed? but if that is the case then there must have also been a way designed to come out of this in a positive way. A kingdom that will never be brought to ruin. So what's the point of keeping the race going at this point? I wish I knew the answer to that.

How long will this take and how much time is left before the release, those are the questions in my mind.

I believe that more women should take the time to make love to men, but in a loving way.

Topic: What do I need to make things work?

There are so many things that need to be worked out to make things work out right; for one thing that is really for sure is that I must get my head working right and stop thinking all of these really bad thoughts, there are too many good things to be thinking all of the bad things that my mind keeps thinking up. I need to have those thoughts simply go away and become to something much better. I feel like a man that has seen his own failure because no one would help me when it counted the most; well it's time to change that, it's time for people to start helping me in really big time kind of ways.

I simply have to do something that will make this life worth living. But right now I need to make the best of what I have just to keep my senses.

Topic: What is the deal

How long is this game going to take me to really figure out to make the right turn. I have to make it work for me in the right way. I am in this really deep and it seems like there must be a way to get to go home, I have figured it out but it seems like I only figured it out like too late. there must still be some way to figure out what's happening to me and why. There is no reason for this to keep happening to all of us over and over again. It's not right nor is it fair for this to happen to anyone for a long time.

I feel like I am not going to change anything in my life from last time, but when do I really start to make the changes that are needed in life? When do I get to start making things better? Soon I hope. We are going to have to do something that makes life better and makes everything work out for us all.

There is nothing wrong with me, this is only a ride, but I do have control over how the ride turns out. But I just have to make the right choices in the right places. One day I will never be a slave to making books again. That much is for sure, now if I can just get the pieces of the puzzle put together in time to make the things work right. Please let me figure out how to do this. I really needed help with this one, and I am so very close to seeing the success, now it's only a matter of time before things change.

Topic: What has happened now?

I wish I knew but it feels like maybe the problem has been changed, if that's the case then what was I working for all this time? In many ways I hope the problem has not changed, but if it did I will have to start all over in finding a way to solve it. Doesn't really seem to be right that these things should be allowed to continue this way. I already feel that I missed the opportunity to go home and that now I am just waiting for the revolution to take place, how can I do better next time?

What's it going to take for me to get my stuff together and make the best out of all of this that will be best for everyone. There are things that are wrong with the world today and I am thinking that there must be some easy way to solve all of the problems that exist. But if I could solve the problem that is really here that would be grand. That might be my ticket home.

If you find the problem before I do be sure to have something in writing that will tell of the problem and how to actually return home. I am looking for new ways to solve this problem my way has not been working, otherwise I would already be home. Homer the odyssey.

Seems like each day has brought only it's own set of anxiety; but I am looking at how to minimize that. Why is it that I haven't learned how to fully control my own body with respects to dreaming? It would be so much easier if I could control my life, perhaps. Are we all slaves? I hope not. there must be some way to make this turn out for the best. What is it that I am working on? Now I just want to clean up my mess, it seems the things that I have done in the past are not worth having done. You tell me if it's worth it?

Sometimes I feel like we are winning; I hope so, it's just a matter of knowing what it is that we are up against. Sometimes it feels like we are up against all kinds of things and that my plans are not working out; because I have been making too many mistakes. But where I have been it seems there is just no one to help me.

There really seems to be a good reason for all of this, I just wish I knew what it was. Having talented people to work with on this problem would be a good idea, to talk about what's going on and understand the problem together would be perfect. Lets hope that we get the answer right.

Where is hope? where can I find a way out of here? There are so many things that have to get done; it would be nice to be able to do all of them. I believe that the milkens want to mess with me; because of something that I did. I wonder if they would really carry a grudge this far to make life difficult for me? I hope not. It would have been better for them to have simply taken me out of the picture than to do something out of revenge to me.

Topic: What is

I would like to know how things are the way that they are; what are the epoch moments in the cycle of life? what has been done to us; nothing I hope. At this point I am hoping this is a ride that can be done again and again. but at some point there needs to be a release. I want to be in the kingdom that is ruled by God; it's really basic but that is what I want, maybe one more thing that is to claim the prize of life.

I want a kingdom that will never be brought to ruin, and there will be no doubts as to what is true. How long before the kingdom becomes our reality? I hope that this is the last time that this ever happens. The question is will we ever make it past the spiders? What happens when we do? There must be some way to explain what is happening. It's better to read the book than to watch the movie. Some how I believe that we have a lot of work to do. I don't want to be suckered into doing this again, I believe there is a way to put an end to this. But it might take lots of time before we realize our dreams. So we go through with what we must to reach the end. Everything else is cake.

Topic: am I telling the story like it really is?

I have to wonder if I have my facts strait? Is my writing the key to solving the puzzle? I hope so, if only there was a way to write what the problem really is and to detail the things that are bothering me. This week the thing bothering me the most is the fact that my erections are not as strong as I would like them to be, that and sometimes my body shakes when jerking off. I don't like it when that happens; I hope that's just a temporary thing. But that isn't the problem, the problem is that I have taken to playing the wrong man. I am not sure who else I should have been but their is some serious doubts in my mind; I am a better person than the man I am.

Have I been tricked into playing a part that doesn't accomplish the goal that I have in mind? How can this be possible? I know the goal is to go home; now to discover what is standing in my way.

Topic: Genius

It has been said there is some level of madness in every genius, and in my case that would probably be true, There is no doubt a great deal of genius to what it is that I am doing! I doubt there is even anything to figure out, now it's just a matter of riding this ride to the end. How long do we have to do this that is my question?

I want to go home and there is nothing here, I believe this place is a lie and that there are really very few people here. What is real, how do you deal with a computer? Should have gone to prison first, then played the game, but not much can be done about that now. But there is still time to save the things that can be saved. There are so many things to talk about how can I trust anyone with all of the things that I feel and think? Were not going to take it for much longer, soon this game will be over with and we will be back home, I just hope that everything is not lost. Someone tell me that everything is not lost and that there is a plan installed that makes getting home easy. That is what I am hoping is the truth and that this will be worth it in the end when it comes time to claim the prize.

It's like this; the kingdom of the heavens are more wonderful that most people can imagine, but I can remember the place and know that it's where I want to be. The kingdom is made of light and the sons of God are also made of light, Real energy. I miss being home, but there is a good reason we are doing this, it comes down to training to become something wonderful and great. In the end we will come out of this more perfect than ever before. It's just a matter of getting to the end of the game; that's what's bothering me.

I want to reach the end of the time that we are stuck in this game, and be free again. I hope that it's really worth it in the end. Until then it's a matter of being grateful for what we have and appreciating life for what it is. Really wonderful - we have so much to live for it's just a matter of finding the right frame of mind to make it worth while.

Topic: Tired

I am tired of this way of doing things; seems like there are lot's of things that I wish were better. It seems that I am not getting anything done and that my days are being wasted. I hate this feeling. I want to accomplish something with my time and my days. There needs to be more than just these things in my life. I need to put myself to use doing something with my photog- raphy skills. I really want to make art work things that can be used by other people; I would like to see my artwork in other peoples homes. That would be nice to see.

There are so many things I want to express but finding the right content to photograph is prov- ing to be a difficult task. There is only so much time to do the things that I want to do. . . I know I will have enough time to complete the work that I want to see completed. I need to work on my imagination and the ability to picture new things and new pieces of art work.

Topic: I want to make art.

I want to make photography my art work with lots of images that are worthy to be hung in peoples homes or museums. Somehow there must be a way to create the kinds of images that will get my message across. How can I prove myself as a photographer and as a person in general? I want to prove myself worthy of the kingdom of God, that is a task.

How do I find the right content to photograph? How will I know that the image is one that I want? Seems like not all things are what they seem to be, So how do we know what is the best image? I am looking for a way to keep tabs on myself and my activity. I am having to re-learn how to think and how to change my thoughts from bad to good.

Overall there are things that can be done, it's just a matter of knowing what to do and how to do it.

Topic: She looks like a ho.

anyways there are so many things that my mind is thinking, right now I am working at getting away from the bad thoughts that are holding me back from being the kind of person that I want to be. These thoughts are bad and should not reflect who I am, but controlling these thoughts seems to be more difficult than I would like. Just how do you control your thoughts and how do you make bad thoughts leave? I have been studying the teachings of the Buddha and find some of the ideas contained therein to be of some use. I do not want to say that I believe eve- rything that he teaches, but some of the teachings are sound.

My next step is to work on my photography in big time kinds of ways, I want to put together a body of work that speaks volumes of books. I want to buy this expensive macro lens but no idea if I will be able to get it in time. It would really help my photography work in the long run having a good lens to use. And I feel disappointed that I haven't used my hasselblad more, what seems to be giving ? what's the deal that I am not getting to do as much work as I would like? I purchased a new backpack to use for my photo shoots, it holds both of my cameras and then some gear; so that's proving to be a good thing.

It's Friday again already, it's hard to believe this week has gone by so fast.

Sometimes I wish that the problems would just go away; what's keeping me from getting to go home? That is what I wish I knew!!! History can not simply keep repeating itself forever, no I would have done a better job than that; I would never let that happen. Right now I need some creative companions and people who can be there for me and inspire me to be creative.

I wonder if I have things figured out correctly? I hope so, it's just a matter of knowing right from wrong. I am tired of the confusion and the crap that is holding me back. I need solid information and evidence that points to the answer. That's something that I want good information.

Topic: This week

This week is looking good, although it's almost over with I hope that there will be more good things that can happen. What's it going to take for me to get my artwork in order and to create new pieces that really stand out? Obviously there is more to it than just taking snapshots! But I want museum quality art work, things that people are willing to buy and hang in their living room. How do I make the transition from where I am to where I want to be? I have another idea to do a study on Bi-polar people and develop a series of photographs revolving around that. The real question is that I don't know where to start or who to approach to get the ball moving. There are so many things that I want, so little time to get everything done. That's how it feels right now.

I also want some portraits of myself for the sake of having them. I think it would be nice to have a series of images from this time that show me and the process that I am going through. How do I create art work? How do I get my mind to let go and flow with the process in a constructive way? Somehow my work has to improve by a few notches before I am going to be really happy. But I need content to photograph to make the images lasting pieces. So far it seems like the work is coming up to my standards but doesn't feel right yet. I hope that I make it when I am supposed to.

Topic: Getting through the day.

Not sure how to get through the day, the last few have been hard. Lots of the thoughts have come back, and I am not sure what to do about that. I would like to free my mind of these thoughts and move on with life!

So far things are getting better, but it has been a stressful day. I guess what did it was when I got pulled over on a totally bogus deal. That should have never happened. I guess I need to watch my driving more carefully, especially after today. The problem seems to be the car, it attracts too much of the wrong kind of attention.

I am working on my photography and finding what needs to be done to make great pictures. I am thinking of doing a photo shoot in the swimming pool, it will be a question of getting enough light in the pool to make it worth while. My friend Tracy is looking at setting me up with some models. It will be cool if that works out.

Right now I am worried about the cash flow and how to make ends meet on what I am getting. There needs to be a way to make some extra cash with my photography work. that would be nice. We will see how things work out. Life has it's ways of making it's own rules. But who deals the cards when it comes to life?

Topic: Ideas

Here are just a few quick ideas on what kind of pictures to take:

photograph other artists - develop a few relationships with artists in other mediums. Book Being Bi-Polar - cover important questions like medication, work, condition. Macro work - Photographs of very small things, made more life size.

Friend of a friend - pictures of 50 people who are connected to one person.

Artists friends people who are artists in there studio.

So why is it that things keep working out the way that they do? Why are things looking this way for me? Seems like I screw everything up and make a mess when that's not what I am doing. I hate feeling the way that I do; it's driving me somewhat mad. There is only so much of this that I can take and then what do I do? this world is set up for people to fail so it would seem. why so much failure, where are my friends and why do things keep going the way that they are. i don't understand why i feel this way, but I just want to blow my brains out. because I feel there is something wrong with me and that the problem is with me. People are not being cool with me, and it seems like they are causing themselves the problems, but I am blaming myself.

I need to be in a better place and mentally be in a healthier place that affords me some latitude towards working with other people. right now things are going nowhere. Every week seems to be more of the same shit and personally I am tired of it. How long is it going to take for me to get healthy and have the kind of people around me that I need to have. I am looking forward to making the kind of changes that need made to be a better person. so far I am not getting to where I need to be fast enough for my personality.

Sometimes my thoughts scare even me; I am looking for a way to plug my leaking mind. It's not easy to have to live with the thoughts that come to me, how can I live a normal life with these kinds of ideas? So far it's not easy and it's really not easy to know when people are thinking bad thoughts about you. But sometimes I think that people are trying to get into my head. But that only works on people with weak minds. I would like to believe that my mind is strong enough to beat them at that game.

Topic: Paranoia

This weekends photo shoot was stressful , seems I couldn't say the right things and my head was working on what the right things to say would be but nothing was coming up. I was so embarrassed about the fact that I couldn't get the words out that it just didn't work for me or anyone else. My photos only turned out good because I had help from another photographer who was really rocking and knew what he was doing.

Lesson learned: everything has to be done perfectly, must always be at my best to be able to get through this. If history is repeating itself then I have a feeling that I must do significantly better. I am feeling just awful about where I am at, and worse than that feeling really bad about myself. This is not acceptable and must be put to an end. I will not go through this life as a failure. I feel like I screwed everything up this weekend and that I am just not cut out to do this kind of work. But I am hoping that this will change and that I will get better at it. Fuck Things don't make sense, for some reason there are pieces to the puzzle that don't add up.

Topic: feeling better...

so I finally feel like writing again; it's been one bad depression. By far the worst that I have had it's been months of nothing, no life, I hate wasting time, but there was nothing that I could do well and feel good about. I don't know if I have any new ideas, but I feel a little clearer regarding the ones that I do have. What is real? I know if they give me shock therapy I will never for- give them. EVER.

I know history is repeating itself, we are reliving the same things, all the past will happen again, and the future has already happened before. I have questions about what eternity really means, how long has this been happening? How long do we have to go before it's over? I believe I will know the answers to those questions when the time has come. I know this is not going to be permanent. Of all things that I know one is that there is nothing permanent; all things are temporary in this place.

What I want to know now is how to stop this from happening again. At least the future should be safer when people realize the truth. But until then this world will not change.

What is really happening:

Limbo is real, people die but the soul lives forever. I have memories of this place. re-incarnation is real all of the living things have souls and have been human once.

I have memories of these things, being a tree, etc...

People have many lives as humans, I remember some of my other lives.

The rapture is real: people will be taken off this planet to a better place. I know this fact. Hell fire and brimstone: fact the earth will be cleansed. Life will start over.

The earth will hit the sun: this is hell and everyone on this planet will be going there. History is repeating itself, it's part of the cycle of life in this place. There must be a very good reason for this to be happening, why does God allow this to happen? Aliens will play some role in all of this.

Topic: Immortal

I have to believe that we are immortal; the body dies true but the soul never dies. We are more than we have been taught we are. We will live again; many times over. The question is how does it work? and how do I make it better? There are so many things to figure out. . . what is this place?

What role does fate play in all of this?

life is fair - everyones body dies. the great equalizer Death!

Topic: Story outline.

There have been many planet Earth's one of the first designs had a few flaws. namely that every 28 days the moon would crash into the planet and destroy nearly everything. The strange part was that on the next day no one would know what had happened, but if you happened to be drunk when the moon hits the earth you would be moved into a different body.

Now it's easy for people to get lost and everyone has to where name tags, so you know who they are.

better yet. . .

one of the first prototypes of the earth failed miserably because they could only get the human body to live for 30 days as a work around they designed a monthly disaster where the moon would crash into the earth every 28 days. this gave them two days to put everyone into a new body and get ready for the next cycle. during the two days everyone was kept in a zombie like state and their memory of the disaster wiped clean.

Topic: fallen angels

This is just an idea; an idea of who we may be. it makes sense to me that there is the possibility we may have been angels at one time. That would explain how and why re-incarnation works, and why people's bodies die, but the soul lives forever. If you believe that men once lived to be over five hundred years old, maybe anything is possible!

At least I have ideas, and am working to find and solve the problem! There is something wrong with this world, something that doesn't make sense; The problem has been hidden from mankind. I believe there must be another reality outside of this universe that we are not aware of. Are we being experimented on by aliens? What are we really?

The confusion is the hardest part to see through, why are there false religions, and so many conflicting teachings. Without proof from God it's very difficult to have accurate knowledge and true wisdom. But how do we men living in this time know that we have one shred of proof from God? There is no end to the information available that people would want you to believe; but how do you prove that something is from God!

I believe that most of the valuable info has been lost throughout the last five thousand years, somehow we have to make sense out of the confusion or see through it for what it is and form a solid idea of what this place is and who we are. Then find a way out - I believe this is possible.

The soul is not a carbon based life form, but we have carbon based bodies. who's idea was that?

If aliens took you right now, and asked you what you thought of life on earth, and being a carbon based life form what would you say? I would tell them to go fuck themselves. I only want to return to my own home, and be free of this place. I am not some aliens play toy to be watched for entertainment or kept indefinitely from my place of origin. There will be hell to pay. . . I will repay them a hundred fold.

Topic: Fate & predestination

I think that most people reject the idea of fate; there is very little scarier than the idea that you don't even have control over your life and that your just a viewer watching a show. What would the purpose of that be? The only thing worse than that would be to have to do it over and over again with no changes, no possibility of escape. Yet that is how it feels, I believe there is room for escape - a door will open.

The question is where are the answers to my questions? Where is the proof? Proof is on it's way I just have to be patient with the discovery process and let things take there natural course. I often despair when thinking about this, the only thing that keeps me going is faith that it will be over and finished and I will never have to do this again!

Topic: Home

I have a difficult time accepting that this world is my home, I have memories of another place that really is home. What I want to know is how to return to that place. . . a place where time is meaningless. And death does not exist! Some place that is truly clean and holy.

What I have to figure out is why am I here, and what is the secret to returning home? Sometimes I feel that it is strictly time based and that it's a matter of waiting for the time to run out, other times I feel that I have to do something that changes history, something that I have never done before. Maybe that would be enough to break the loop of history repeating itself. But then I have to ask the question would I want to change history and have to live with that change every time this happens? then things could go from bad to worse. I don't want that to happen. So really my every action must be geared towards going home, but there is no way to know what I did last time. I have ideas, but am waiting for proof.

Sometimes it's hard to do anything - I have had days I couldn't move complete breakdown. But I hope those days are over and that I can have a normal life that should be possible.

I believe that english is a trap to confuse people from thinking properly, wouldn't it be nice to have a pure language that enhanced our ability to think.

Topic: today

not really in a good place today, feeling melancholy I guess. I would like to know how I person- ally fit into Gods plan with what he is doing. I have idea's; lets just hope that I am right. I be- lieve that I am friends with God, and things will have there way of working themselves out.

other wise I will be dead and this whole thing is without purpose or reason. That would be sad, I hate to think that I am wrong about all of this and that my life will have had no purpose. But to change the world for the better is no easy task. The whole thing sucks, either way I have to do this again. It feels that there is no purpose to the things that are happening. That would be really sad! Is all humanity in the same boat?

I know that If I don't solve the problem that no one will . . . I just have to find the problem. I know that the end will come; all that is will be no more.

I know that this will happen again; unless this is the last time.

I know God....

Topic: my faith

my faith transcends time and space, even if I die a billion deaths my faith is a part of me and shall not be taken away. I trust that I shall live again, many lives. I believe there is a place in GOD's kingdom for me, and that I shall return there to-day.

My faith is more than that, it is also the grand sum of everything that I have ever done or shall ever do, it's every ounce of me. It knows that all things in this place are temporary and sustains me through trial, tribulation, torture and the unknown. It rejoices in good times, and makes my heart glad. It guides me in my daily life, and helps me to be the best I can be.

My faith is eternal and can never be taken away from me. It will survive through anything, anything that anyone can ever do to me. I will always remember the truth. Gods name is Jehovah.

Regardless of what form I may take it will always be there for me, I will always be a god! My faith can not be described in words, you have to see all the pictures.

This is my faith, religion, and creed.

This is a nice picture; it's just a small start of a much larger project. Please don't cry;

Topic: The Game

Life is a game, it is also a test. (life is an intelligence test) The reason history is repeating itself is because rather than fail I choose to play again. It's the choice I made when I first started this game, before I was human. We are living in a computer the greatest super computer ever built. I brought my friends with me, I don't remember how many. I hope they have all returned home. I only needed them for one cycle of the game anyways, it would be senseless to keep them here any longer than that. Sometimes I fear that I locked things up so tight that even they could be still here. I hope not. If this is true; then it is also true that I built this place.

Someone told me once that it's no fun playing against a computer because the computer always wins, that might be true but with my plan I would never fail. I knew what I was doing before I entered into this game, knew the risk. But I also had a plan; still do! Whatever happens, happens for a reason. Gods will shall be carried out. live or die matters not in this place; only returning home matters.

Many of my brothers have tried to do what I am doing, they lost and were turned into galaxies only to return home with their memories wiped clean with no memory of anything they ever did. We can still see many of them today. When andromida (M-31) returns home my return will be nearing. The Game only lasts so long, and then it is destruction for all. The game resets and life begins again. No I wont loose at this game, I will return home with my memories and still be the same person. I am that good.

But if God figures out what I have done to beat this game; I think he would kick my ass. Thats fine but at least

I did the impossible. And it was worth it, or will be once I return home.

Why does it always stop at the spiders? Someone please tell me it's already over, and that I am really home, that what I am seeing, hearing and feeling is the past; but the future is waiting for me. Tell me this is the last time and my brothers are waiting. But most of all tell me that I was right about the problem and that I pulled the game off.

Otherwise the options begin to look really bleak; if this isn't what I am doing then I have spent time working on the wrong problem. And I have already considered the other options. It's much worse than anyone could ever imagine, for the sake of mankind I hope that I am right.

Date: Monday, January 24, 2005 4:56:44 PM

Topic: The other options...

If I should die before the message goes out, then there are probably only two explanations: 1. There is a horrible war taking place. Peace is war, war is peace. and I will have failed to complete my mission. 2. mankind is being punished by God; this could go on forever. There is nothing I can do about that, moreover if that is the case there is nothing I would do about it even if I could.

3. It wasn't meant to be in this life time; but for a future life time. History is repeating, strange things happen all the time. It could have happened and they wiped everyones memory clean of the event. Read your journals to know the truth. Be careful how you keep your journals, always tell it like it is.

Date: Tuesday, January 25, 2005 1:09:36 PM

Topic: Should I die...

In the event that I should die here are my wishes.

1. my blood is to be poured out upon the ground. 2. there should be no funeral held for me.

3. my body should be buried

4. have a party.

I know that I shall live again do not weep over me. I will never again have brown eyes. Look for me in future life times, perhaps I will remember you. I hope that you will remember me.

The hard part is going to be remembering your friends in future lifetimes.

As long as people in coffee shops are singing Bob dylan songs the world will be safe, for that matter just playing and singing the world will keep going around. These are the best days. . . spend them wisely. you only have time to do it right once. Plan your life and live to the fullest, may all your dreams come true.

Find a publisher and print my journals anonymously in book form, my pictures should be included with the journals.

Here is something that people don't know about me, before I was human I was one hell of a musician, a singer too! I was the best there ever was, except for one. I look forward to making some music again. That will be a great day.

Don't mess with the dead, they have eerie powers, eh?

Topic: The question of the ages.

Is life worth living? I have to wonder if life is all it's cracked up to be. It's better than being dead, But there must be some kind of middle ground. At least for me I know there must be something better. Life is worth living, but I wouldn't want to be a carbon based life form forever. No that wouldn't be good.

The key is to appreciate what you have; while you have it. Since all things are temporary even if things get really bad, life is still worth living. It is unfortunate that everything is not pleasant for everyone all the time. But at the same time where would we be if we didn't have challenges in life. Really it's the challenges that make us stronger.

Topic: True Vision

It takes some true vision to make the world truly a better place. It's not easy to keep everyone happy, all the time. What is the root of the problem in our society? Most people are not truly happy with their lives. At best it's a mediocre existence; and the problems most people have are completely superficial. When are people going to wake up to fact that there are bigger problems that effect them directly? I doubt most people could even deal with the problems. It's going to take some time for people to accept what I know, but one day the world will be better off than it was.

Had I been in a better place the last four years there might have been a chance; but at this point I know that there is little humans can do to restore the world. The world is doomed to destruction. I feel sorry for people who don't think outside of this world; and don't know what treasure is hidden outside this universe. There is something great waiting for us, true happiness. I guess the problem is that it isn't meant for everyone, but I know I don't belong here. I would take those who belong in Gods kingdom and leave this place forever. All I need is to find my way out of the maze.

The fact is the world wont be made a better place, it's not meant to be. The only hope we have is Gods kingdom. That is the only place that we will be truly happy.

Topic: Everybody's talking shit...

But the conversations are not really all that deep. it's just empty talk to fill time. For some reason this really bugs the hell out of me. Small talk for the sake of talking... how boring. It's more difficult to let the silence speak, to be comfortable not saying anything. I have felt that way since I was eighteen. Sometimes you don't even have to say anything, it's just better that way. But I long for friends that I can hang out with, really people that I can talk about ideas with. I'm not content with my life the way that it is. I need more than what I have, on a physical, emotional, and spiritual levels. So it really comes down to the fact that I am completely miserable. I don't see it getting better any time soon, no I don't expect things to get better for years. too bad for everyone. It would be better if I had the things that would make me happy.

As history repeats itself people are going to have to accept the fact that they are slaves. Slaves to history there is nothing that can be done to break the loop. The only way to be free is to free your mind from the past, from the future and from all thought. But that is easier said than done. And besides how do you know what you did last time? there are no accidents, no chance, no luck. it's all been programmed ahead of time all of your lives throughout history. It's all pre-destination from start to finish. It's just a shame that we don't know what are lives are going to turn out ahead of time.

If you could break the loop would you want to anyways? I have to ask if it would be a good idea?

Topic: Life with a purpose to live a thousand lives knowing that you would live again you would instinctively begin to ask what is the purpose of life. Sure you would be glad to know that all things are temporary and that death holds no lasting power over you. What would be nice is to remember all of your past lives. Think of the wisdom that you could have with that knowledge. reincarnation is real it's going to take some time for that fact to be proven, but one day two men will tell the story of how it works. The world will change for the better after that fact is made public.

What is my purpose in this place? To tell the people the truth about this place and what is happening to mankind. I don't know how long we will have to endure this place, I only know that one day it will be over and that it shall end. To prove what I know to them, and change the world forever. When I have completed this mission my goal would be to make the world a better place, or at least provide refuge to mankind from the things that are to come. In addition it is my goal to make art, movies, and writing that will become priceless; (maybe that isn't the right word, let's say valuable).

But what is the purpose for the rest of mankind, why are you here? That is going to take some time to figure out why the rest of the people are here. There must be some explanation to justify your existence. Maybe it takes x number of people for this whole thing to work, the world is a big place.

Sometimes I believe that we are being held prisoner in this world, and that we are much more than we have been told. What are we really? How long before this whole thing sees the light of day?

Find a reason to keep living, there must be a good reason to live besides joy, happiness, and pleasure.

Where will mankind be in a thousand years? Hopefully a great deal more informed and developed than we are today.

Topic: idea

take a photo and write a million words to describe the piece of art. I think this is something that I could do but it would take me some time to complete. so far nothing new has occurred to me, this is somewhat distressing maybe it's just not time for me to understand more than what I do. But I want to know more, I want to fully understand what I already know. Right now I feel like I am still working on bits and pieces of information and that I have not seen the full picture. Maybe it's for my protection; too much info at once could drive me insane. And having to deal with everything at once would be more than I would want it's better to take it slow and not rush things. I have this memory of becoming aware of everything at once and having a complete breakdown, but I know that is a ways off in the future.

I wonder about how events are related, and what relationship events have over my life. I know the universe is connected in strange ways. what power does the cosmos have over our lives? I don't know if I believe in karma, but what goes around comes around.

There is no way to prove what reality this is, I know the day is coming when one day will repeat itself for five years. those who endure to the end will be rewarded. I just hope I have what it takes to endure through all of that - again. Why is it that I am wired up differently than most people, how is it that I know these things? It isn't just a fluke, that these things have come to me. I have known these things since before I was born, but they haven't become clear to me until the last few years. But it's more than just thinking these things - I really know these things to be right and true. I know most people will not take me seriously until the message goes out - but after that I hope that people will believe me and that they will accept the truth in a responsible way.

One day I will have a breakthrough in my thinking and all the pieces will fit together, the full picture will come into view and I will understand the truth - I just hope it happens in time for me to tell others.

Topic: The loner

Why have I fallen into this rut; no friends, no girlfriend. Right now there isn't even people I want to be friends with. I am tired of this lifestyle; it's not healthy for me personally. I am sure there are people who can live with being alone. The question is where are all the really intelligent people? Coffee shops are ok, but it's often people with average minds. There are a few exceptions - I have met some smart people here and there. Then there are the freaks who find me; I want nothing to do with those people.

It would be better if I had more good days, I know most people don't like to be around people who are depressed. It's a vicious cycle and there must be a way to stop it. Personally I think the doctors should be treating my depression with something. maybe once we get better doctors they will start treating me, instead of just treating the manic behavior.

a good lighter will last a lifetime; a good friend eternity.

Topic: Immortal

I want to cover this fact again because it seems so important; until we discover how reincarnation works it's going to be difficult to understand all of the facts. But I know that all people will live again in some form. the question is how long until you become human again? I will be glad when this issue finally gets cleared up and people know the truth. one day families will reunite and death will no longer hold sway over mankind. the question in my mind is why do people die? And why is it not known by everyone that they will live again? The truth is out there; we just have to look for it. But when you find the truth tell someone and show them the proof.

What is the point of keeping people ignorant to this important fact? How long will mankind live on in stupidity? Maybe the question to ask people is this: what do you want to be in your next life?

Maybe another way to look at it is how long will humanity exist in the present form? How long before something comes along and replaces what we have? since everything in this place is temporary I have to believe that even mankind is temporary, and what we do have in this world. We really do not possess anything that we can take with us into our next lives; do we? maybe our experience and our faith. Where is Gods wisdom in this crazy messed up world?

There has to be some hope that it will end; that one day the cycles will stop! Either nothing will exist or mankind will be truly free from slavery. No one wants to go through an entire revolution again. I know I don't. But there is probably nothing that can be done to prevent this. If your insane enough to think you can stop the revolution; By all means I welcome you to do so. But this will require us to work together and not be divided. Good luck!

Topic: Nothing new under the sun!

I believe the statement by king solomon "there is nothing new under the sun" this seems to be a piece of wisdom that few take seriously. with history repeating there really is nothing new, it just seems new to us because we haven't seen it in our life time. I have an idea for an invention; lets just hope it works. The question is will it make a difference in peoples lives? I know it will make a difference in my life, it will rebuild my life. I must be the most patient person in the universe, to go through with this again and again. I know it won't last forever - one day it will be over with for good. forever! then all infinity will await us.

It's like the book of Job says job 3:18 so the world is in darkness, and the condition of mankind is not what we believe. How long until the conditions change? slaves at ease, so comfortable they don't know they are slaves. How is it that our every idea, thought and action are the product of slavery? That is the only way that history can be repeating itself, it has to come down to the smallest microbe being in the same place every time this happens. That's pre-destination.

I once read that eternity is just long enough for a joke; I guess if it was a good joke it would be worth it. Maybe it depends on who the joke is on. If the joke is on me, I hope to find it funny; if the joke is being played by me it's worth it. When you have all of infinity on your hands; eternity isn't so long. You have to do something to make the time worthwhile. I like a good joke.

Topic: How many people how many souls are there on the planet? sometimes I believe there are a fixed number of people on the planet; or at least a fixed number of souls. which would mean that there are no new people, only the same people in new bodies. what happens when you kill a spider? what happens to the spider's soul? Even the fish in the sea have souls. I think people shouldn't kill animals, because they were once human. but it's part of the cycle on this planet.

there are those that can kill the body, but only one that can kill the soul. but how does the soul get recycled? there must be a place the soul goes to while waiting for a new body. that's why I believe in limbo - the place where the soul goes back to when the body dies. how long a soul has to stay there I don't know. but my memories of limbo tell me it takes a while.

Topic: keep your eyes on the horizon...

free fall; retarded; this song is in my head. there are a few people who know me; at least they recognize me when they see me around. the poetry reading is really bad today; the music was worse. thank God for headphones. I am ready to go home, it's just more boredom. I have been so very bored. it feels like there is no place to really go, nothing to do. I just want people to hang out with, I need that more than anything right now. People to talk with, make jokes, maybe go out for a few drinks.

Right now I have to get my depression under control; I am tired of having bad days, I can count the good days from the last year on one hand. I need some new ideas; it feels like I have been tossing the same ideas around for the last year. I want to do something creative and artistic! Where has my creativity gone? I hope to find it again; I miss it - this seems to be a dry spell as far as creative ideas go.

Topic: The Moon

So I wrote almost a thousand words on my photograph "Moon Key" it was harder than I thought it would be to write a thousand words. but the effort was really worth while; I learned a little about myself in the process. I think this is something I will do with other images. It would be good for my blog. There is really nothing new; I am just going through the days, it's not easy feeling like you know the future.

I know that my car will be totaled in an accident; so I don't like to drive often. the rest of my future looks hazy it's hard to know for sure what is going to happen; there are too many conflicting ideas. I wish I could clearly see the path before me. But I guess it makes the game more fun not knowing. I know I have lived this life before; and will very likely live this life again. The truth is that I am tired of this madness. That's what this is, madness. very few accept my philosophy; don't think twice it's alright with me. what happens when I prove my point and I know I am right? What happens to those who don't accept my teachings? will they go mad when they can not accept the proof? The things I wonder about. . .

I guess it wouldn't be so bad if I didn't feel so alone in these feelings and thoughts. Pete says you don't change the past - that is what makes this a ride you will get off. everything happens for a reason. We are trapped here stuck on a ride no one remembers. The questions are why? How long? When is it over? I will either prove this or be dead; either way things will work out. fuck the world.

Topic: My philosophy

There is something wrong with the world; it's a lie and a sham. but there are very few who can see through it. most people go insane when they reach the point I am at. there is really very little to do about the problem, sit back and watch the show. it's like I said yesterday this is a ride We are trapped here stuck on a ride no one remembers the last time they went around. Except the ride is your life and truth is your life is a car sitting on tracks, the tracks keep you from doing anything different from last time. You only get one shot at this in any life, thereafter you will do the same things. Hope you have a good life; but most of all I hope your future lives will be better because of this knowledge. By the time this info catches on it's too late for most people in this life time; but future generations might be saved.

History is repeating - This is just a rerun of the past.

reincarnation is real - people will live again, you will see.

my origin is not from this planet; I am something greater than this.

most of my journals here make up my philosophy; maybe one day I will put together a cohesive philosophy that makes better sense.

too tired . . .

Topic: Dogs rule the universe

There is no better friend than a dog! It's the cats you have to watch out for. It would be difficult for me to write a poem that does the dog justice, so many have said better than I could do. maybe some day if I feel the creative edge I will write that poem for all dogs. I think that would be a good idea. One day the dogs will be outside and free. The cats will always be slaves.

Some people shouldn't have dogs, and people that name there dogs badly need a swift kick in the pants. I believe the dog is one step below man in the reincarnation process, name your dog well and it's likely to become human. Name your dog bear - and it shows your a complete eeing moron when it comes to animals.

Cats on the other hand only have one name, rufus. Imagine what would happen if everyone named their cat rufus. think about it...

you see names play a huge part in the process of reincarnation - every thing has a name. name your flowers, ants and bee's and lizards and fish (Koi) and Dogs and tree's and mice and deer and most of all bears. Give these animals good names.

Don't kill an insect you haven't given a name to. there are exceptions; crickets don't have names, cockroaches don't have names, rats don't have names, gold fish don't have names, caterpillars don't have names, mosquitos don't have names. don't name them; unless you can name them something mean and it's funny.

So what's a good name for a Great Dane or dogs in general: Prince or spot. Max is a good name too, choose wisely and help animals make it through to being human; fail to be good to animals in this regard and you shall suffer greatly.

I stick my finger into existence---It smells of nothing. Where am I? What is this thing called the world? Who is it who has lured me into the thing, and now leaves me here? How did I come into the world?

Why was I not consulted? --Soren Kierkegaard

The Buddha taught reincarnation and that incarnations depend on the quality of each preceding life (i.e. on one's karma). Though some disagree and say that he taught rebirth and not reincarnation, this is really only splitting hairs. The Buddhist view of the cycle of rebirth is much the same as the Yogic view - rebirth is the curse of the individual who must keep returning to earth to struggle through life, learning lessons and paying back their karmic debt. The goal of the student of Buddhism is the same as the goal of the student of Yoga - to achieve enlightenment and break the cycle of reincarnation.

There must be something greater than this universe, we are more than souls trapped in carbon based bodies, waiting for the next cycle of birth and death. At the very least we are unending. But we are powerful too; the key is finding how to unlock that power and use it. Then one's full potential can be realized. Knowledge is power, the more wisdom and knowledge you have the better choices you can make; the more powerful you become. There is a fixed number of souls on this planet/universe. The question becomes how does one free themselves from this place? That is the only way to break the cycle of reincarnation and history repeating itself.

Topic: Pain

I have known pain, the memories I have of being tortured are horrible. These wakeful memories of having my skin stripped from my body, of being burned by fire. These memories are of both the past and the future - where do they come from? Why do I have them? The memories of successfully committing suicide are in the future. The memories of war are the worst. Being trapped in a safe and having to use my teeth to saw through the steel. I have no idea how many times that happened. I know things about the future too - several times I have told myself things years before they happened. Unfortunately I don't always remember them in time. Like when I was five someone told me that five things was not enough and to ask for more; then once again I said I would only change five things, I should have asked for a million things, but I didn't want to be greedy. It's only a good thing that I only used three things; otherwise all would be lost. But I believe all of this is programmed in advance and that none of it can be changed; we will see if that is true.

I know that if things don't change for the better in this life in the near future I will take my life. Never play Russian roulette with a gun that isn't fully loaded. If you're going to do something do it right the first time, don't you know God doesn't play dice with the universe. If someone kills themselves it's meant to be.

But at the same time it's better to endure through difficult times than to end one's life; but every person has the choice to live or die. It's our choice and it's our right. Suicide is not a sin against God.

Those who sin against me shall not be forgiven.

I am tired of the emotional pain in this life, the depression, the loneliness. I know that I will be able to endure through the torture in future life times but I want to put an end to the loop. To have to endure through all of the things that happen again and again takes something special. The things that make gods great is what they have experienced and their power. Is this world part of how gods are created? I wonder if others will experience anything close to what I go through? I know that I shall become powerful in this lifetime. I don't promise a life of ease, I know that there will be hardships placed upon mankind that the world has never known until now. Those who endure through them shall be rewarded. Never give up - endure through all; even global nuclear war. Billions will suffer many times over before things get anywhere close to getting better. There will be wars that last billions of years when compared to the time frame we live in today. keep your faith - even if you die a million deaths there is hope that I will put an end to the loop and you will not have to experience these things again.

Topic: What is karma. . .

Do you remember being an ant? It wasn't so bad, I will do it again. we marched across the nation to win a war. The funny thing was they couldn't stop us. How did so many come to be ants? Was it karma or was it just part of the cycle of life? Maybe it was the number of people who died in a war. I don't know at this time - wish I did. . .

But future generations should respect the ants and be kind to them or they may have some really bad karma. It makes me wonder if mankind has a debt that can never be paid. Either that or almost everyone on this planet has sold their soul to the devil. When will mankind pay their debt and be free? Who will buy the souls back from the devil and kick his ass for doing this to so many millions of people?

I believe in God; and even if everyone on this planet loses faith; I alone will remain intact. The bad stuff goes by really quick. most people don't remember it. I remember when the end comes that people will have shit coming out of their ears and all kinds of really bad stuff - but it doesn't last long. then comes the pain of being set free that lasts about three days. I remember biting down on a stick and breaking it in half. Screaming, because the pain was so great - but no one was doing a thing to me.

The time I dread the most is spoken of in the bible, I pray to be dead or off this planet before this day arrives. "And in those days shall men seek death, and shall not find it; and shall desire to die, and death shall flee from them." I have some memories of these times. work your life to avoid having to live through that time.

Some people don't believe in heaven or hell; The belief of going to heaven is a dream, but you had better believe in hell, because everyone that doesn't go to heaven is going to the other place. you can bet on it.

But as far as karma goes I leave the belief up to you the reader to decide for yourself if karma is real.

Topic: What will Annie do?

I have to wonder what Annie will do in future life times? I have this feeling that she is going to reject me and that History will continue to repeat itself. That's fine she can do as she pleases in this life time or any other. But when the time comes that she has to choose between me and God I hope that she will choose God. Annie doesn't know how special she really is. She doesn't know who she is in this life time. I just hope that she will prove herself to be a true friend to me in this life time.

What's going to happen when people start to remember their future lives? What will happen when people in future life times remember their past life times? I am sure that will be interest- ing. I hope that people will not hold grudges through future life times.

I wonder how I am going to treat people, especially since so many have treated me badly. I wonder if I can be nice to people after the way they have been to me. I will not tolerate be- trayal; not from anyone.

But my friends will be rewarded greatly.

Topic: Weather = O

One day the weather will be turned off; it should last five hundred years. People will be forced to move closer to the coasts and desalination will be the only method of obtaining water. In the beginning people will find it very enjoyable; but after a hundred years things will start to get really rough. Life as we know it will change a great deal. Food will be scarce and a great fam- ine will set in. In about a thousand years from that the oceans will be drained and all the fish in the sea will die. there will be water flowing in the deserts and milk and honey. Then comes the great flood spoken of in the bible, and all men will be washed away, save but eight. You have heard the phrase when hell freezes over, there is more truth in that statement then people would like to admit. I remember hell freezing over twice. welcome to the jungle. watch out for the storms when the weather is turned back on; they will have great fury and anger towards the earth. Most of all people should work to avoid war; I don't believe war is funny. But if people fail to keep peace among the nations we will have nuclear wars on a glob- al scale. But fear not - for most of these things will happen in future lifetimes. best wishes on saving the planet!

Topic: The message

The message will go out in less than seven years. I expect to appear before millions of people and tell them that history is repeating, that the matrix is real, to use their left hand. I tell the world governments to surrender to me or be replaced. And if they do not want to get burned again they had better listen.

If any one tries to take me out of this world or kills me the message will be delivered to the world.

How will people react to the news? I hope they will be responsible and not panic. But there is little I can do about how they react. No one can change the past - and that's what we are living is the past.

I hope that things will be better for me once this happens, I have been waiting years for this to happen and I will wait several more years. But I am a very patent person. I know the next three or four years of my life will be the worst I will have to go through in this life time. At least I will have a few friends and several girl friends.

What I am looking forward to the most is getting fifty billion dollars, then the fun will really begin for me.

It's another mediocre day in this life. I wish I had some new ideas. I am working out which direction our galaxy is traveling through space. I think we are going somewhere; or that it is somehow connected to the cycles of things on earth. Just how fast is the galaxy moving? How long does it take to get to where we are going? I have heard it said that if anyone ever figures out what the universe is for that everything will suddenly be replaced with something even more bizarre and strange. Personally I would like to figure it out; just to see what's next! There are so many things to figure out, it would take several lifetimes and many people working on the problem to discover the secrets of the universe.

What is a rock? figure that one out and you might have a good start to having understanding.

Topic: Aliens & Ron L. Hubbard.

So I have this feeling that aliens are going to attack the world and try to bring destruction to mankind. They will attack Canada first and since they are not heavily armed they are not going to survive. but this will buy the united states enough time to organize and plan an assault. I simply hope that we can beat them without having to resort to using nuclear war heads. If that happens things are going to get really ugly. Could you imagine the us having to nuke canada just to beat a bunch of aliens.... too bad it's true.

we win that war; but later more aliens come and attack the world every six weeks for two years. they demolish everything, no buildings left standing. Then they leave, never to return in this period of history. There are other aliens that will take people off this planet, I have no idea of what they will do to the people they take - but my gut instinct says to trust them; I would go with them! But I want off this planet really bad.

other events: some day every word that was ever written by Ron L. Hubbard will come true, everything from his science fiction to his so called religious writing. I will not be on this planet when that happens, And I hope that you are not as well. For those times will be the worst times for mankind. He enslaved the world to aliens and it's going to be hell for those who are left on this planet. Worse than hell we don't have words to describe what it will be like; you have only one hope escape to the metaverse before that time comes. search it out and find my metaverse with the exit from the matrix. Take the red pill. If you think your really brave you could try to make it on this planet; but there is nothing in scientology anywhere that will prepare you for what you are up against. I don't care how high up you are in the religion, or what you think you know; you wont be happy. Trust Me! There is a reason I won't be here; it's that bad.

So to sum it all up: aliens are real; don't be surprised when they show up, it will be part of life. deal with it. Get the hell out of the matrix; enjoy life in the metaverse for as long as it lasts. Live long and prosper.

Don't you dare think about killing me. . .

Would you know your friends if . . .

They were in different bodies? what if you both had died and where reincarnated in new bodies? How would you recognize old familiar people from the people you didn't care for. You could end up being friends with the wrong people if you were not very careful! Would you be able to find me? I think it's important to know your friends very well; so well in fact that by one word you know each other even in different lifetimes. The day will come when people remember their past lives; but that is in the future.

Someday peoples faces will change everyday and everyone will have to wear name tags to know who each other are. I know it won't last long, but long enough to become very distressing. Remember to laugh about it; because it's really very funny. Whatever happens just remember that it's temporary!

Poem:

How I long to See old familiar faces. The ones from long ago. How I wish to greet them and give them My love. And what of you? Can you forgive me for these actions? Many of them will hate me, the price to pay for making a choice. Should you walk a mile in these shoes; would it prove my promise? I only want to be loved.

Topic: stuck

So I am stuck at the coffee shop today. The bad part is that I am not in a good place (emotionally) ; I hate feeling trapped in this world. I want out! Suicide isn't a good option; that just means a new life in a different body. That's not the kind of out I am looking for. If your going to kill yourself keep that in mind; it will never take you out of the world completely. But there must be something that can be done that would (would you really want to if you could?). The storm is coming; I don't know which life time it will come in, I just know it's coming.

I am also stuck in terms of my thinking; it doesn't feel like I have made progress. My writing has improved and I have done lots of things just in the last few weeks. But I still feel stuck with my ideas; things don't seem to be any clearer; there have been no new breakthroughs. I guess it comes from not fully understanding what I already know. Wisdom and knowledge are the two most important things to have. But I like the mantra: God grant me the serenity to accept the things I can not change, courage to change the things I can; and the wisdom to know the difference. Since nothing in these lives can be changed it would be nice to have some serenity. I believe in pre-destination; God has a plan and nothing can be done to change that plan. We will have to suffer through world events to get to the other side; if such a thing is possible.

Nothing new with my photography; haven't really been working on it. But I hope to soon.

Topic: Why is history repeating?

I have come to terms with the fact that history is repeating, the question in my mind now becomes why? I wish that I had a definitive answer to that question; I have ideas and theories on why but I don't know for sure the reason why at this time. I hope to have an answer to that question in the next few years. Until then I can only wonder about it and develop something that makes sense. But here is what I have so far. I need to fully explore these ideas and gain understanding. . .

1. I created this place; we are inside of a computer. there is us and them.

2. God is punishing the world - this could go on forever.

3. We are at war against aliens, who have invaded our world and want to enslave us. 4. We are something else and have been enslaved to this world. There is no hope. 5. The matrix is real, who has done this to us and why?

If you can think of a better idea on why history is repeating itself I would be happy to hear it, there are very few dumb ideas. But the goal is to make life better for everyone; until the next time. I have to wonder about the epoch moments in this cycle: when does it start and when does it end. How long is that really? I have hoped that it would only last 5000 years, but I have heard numbers that go into the billions. However long it lasts; do what you can to make things better for everyone; long term.

Topic: Why do people have strange experiences.

There must be a reason why people have the experiences and memories that they do. I believe it's not uncommon for people to have memories of the past and future. I don't know what's possible in dreams in this world. Some have talked about meeting dead ancestors and bringing objects from dreams into this world. I think there are a lot of fakes in the world; people who mislead people with genuine memories. Poor guides at best is all they are. Until people come to have understanding and true wisdom many things are going to be a mystery. There are people I want to talk to; people who know much about the future. I believe they are out there, I just have to find them; or have them find me.

I believe because we have all done this before that memories of the past and future are possible; but not for everyone. There is a reason for everything. I want to hear about the things people have been through; the things they remember about last time. I feel like There is so much to do, so many things to discover. I only hope to have all the information in time.

Topic: Almost forgot. . .

Almost forgot how the TV works. But I did manage to remember; and the cool thing is that people in the future will be able to see my life as it really is. I know it's kind of boring, but it's my life. Now all I need is a sound track to accompany the show. This is reality TV at it's best!

Since we are living in a time warp, this is live tv. cool huh?

Topic: So much confusion.

I don't know why I feel the way that I do; I am doing the best that I can to sort through the memories that I am having and make some kind of sense out of them. Right now all I have are bits and pieces; I don't see how the puzzle goes together. I just hope I can handle putting it together. I hope that things are better than I think they are. I hope that I am better off than I believe. I know at the end of 5000 years I will be trapped inside a rock; people will have to come find me and tell the rock to set me free.

To have to deal with all of these thoughts at once is too much for normal people, take things one item at a time and deal with it.

It's difficult to have the memories that I have; not knowing which ones are true. I know I have done this before; what I don't know at this time is the future. Sometimes these memories over-whelm me because it makes me think of everything at once. But I am getting stronger at con-trolling some of it. I wish I knew which memories to trust and which ones to discard. That would make all of this much easier for me personally.

I have this theory that the universe is a sphere and that the objects inside the universe are traveling in circles. Since it's pitch black there may not be a way to know for sure. Sometimes I wish there where some astronomers that I could talk to about the universe. I want to know things like which direction our galaxy is traveling and how fast. Where are we going? There must be some purpose to all of this.

There has to be a way out of this maze that works for everyone. I don't know how long I have been trapped here but it's far longer than I would like. There must be a way to make it stop! For the good of everyone involved I believe that is the best choice for everyone. Unless of course they don't play fair or they take me out of the world. I know they kill me; have known for years - I am a little upset by that. In the big picture it doesn't matter that much, I will be happy to get out of this body anyways. What upsets me a great deal is that they want to completely take me out of this world. That doesn't set well with me at all. I know both sides have tried to take me out; what they don't know is this world doesn't work without me in it. It would be easier if I knew for sure what the problem is; That has really started to bother me. I know what makes me happy and anyone can be sad if they just let the problems take over. My sadness comes from deep depression I wish there was something we could do about it.

As long as they play fair things will be ok; otherwise . . . no one will be happy.

And God created the orange spider because he was angry with men. The orange spider is born inside of the orange fruit and has a terrible bite. He is awakened when the fruit is peeled and comes out when you open the fruit. When this happens he usually bites you on the hand; unless your fast enough to squish him first. Orange juice in the future will come in two flavors: with spider guts and without. And mankind shall remember Gods name.

Why is it that my hopes and dreams are getting further and further from where I really want to be?

I feel out of reasons to keep living in this body, there is no point to continue on this road of madness. I simply want to end these feelings and end the stupidity of life. Everything feels mundane and boring like there is no point to keep going. But for some reason that probably wouldn't solve the problems so fuck life, fuck the world and fuck you.

I am not sure what is left for me to do, but I hope to get through this and get on with some kind of life that will make sense. As strange and fucked up as the universe appears to be there must be some way to fix the computer in a way that works for me and my friends. I don't ever want to have to go through this again, this sucks and it's not what I want to have to go through. I am tired of history repeating itself. There must be one way which is better. Great one more problem to deal with, but at least I know there is some reserve plan or backup for dealing with such problems. But even know I am questioning what is going on, why am I having to be the bad guy in this? That's not what I am looking for. It would be nice if someone would put the truth out there and really discuss what is real and what is true. And then I am going to need some comfort to keep my head together. There must be some way to get the things I need. I need lovers and sexual partners. I need my friends and people to do things with. I need to complete my mission successfully.

There are things I don't want to go through again; There are things that I don't want to happen. There must be a way to make it through this stuff that changes for the better but still completes my purpose.

Topic: I wonder if I have written about this yet???

So the line of thought here is this see if you can follow me around the room and still get the gist of what I have to say. There are animals, good. there are humans, also good. Now if you had your choice as to what you want to be you might have to think inside the box and think of being something much more than what you really ever dreamed you were. Let me say this: You are more than you think you are; much more. To say what you really are would be difficult, but let's say that you have something that many people would desire and like to also have if they had the ability to think and then know they too have the power.

Whatever point you actually take away from this keep in mind that you have a good opportunity to be more. But you have to put forth the effort to become something great. Don't settle for less be more than you ever dreamed.

Topic: Fire In the Sky

Fire in the Sky

Dr. Jordin Kare - Prometheus Music

Prometheus, they say, brought God's fire down to man.

And we've caught it, tamed it, trained it since our history began. Now we're going back to heaven just to look him in the eye, and there's a thunder 'cross the land, and a fire in the sky.

Gagarin was the first, back in nineteen sixty-one,

When like Icarus, undaunted, he climbed to reach the sun.

And he knew he might not make it, for it's never hard to die.

But he lifted off the pad and rode a fire in the sky.

Yet a higher goal was calling, and we vowed we'd reach it soon.

And we gave ourselves a decade to put fire on the moon.

And Apollo told the world, we can do it:

And there was one small step, and a fire in the sky.

I dreamed last night of a little boy's first spaceflight,

Turned into me, watching a black and white TV.

There was a fire in the sky, I'll remember until I die.

A fire in the sky...a fire in the sky!

Then two decades from Gagarin, twenty years to the day.

Came a shuttle named Columbia, to open up the way.

And they said she's just a truck, but she's a truck that's aiming high. See her big jets burning, see her fire in the sky.

Yet the Gods do not give lightly of the powers they have made.

And with Challenger and seven, once again the price is paid.

Though a nation watched her falling, yet a world could only cry.

As they passed from us to glory, riding fire in the sky.

Now, the rest is up to us, and there's a future to be won.

We must turn our faces outward, we will do what must be done.

For no cradle lasts forever, every bird must learn to fly ---

And we're going to the stars, see our fire in the sky.

Yes, we're going to the stars, see our fire in the sky! There's a fire in the sky, I'll remember until I die.

A fire in the sky, a fire in the sky!

Topic: things to do.

There must be some way out of here. I have discovered that this place isn't what it seems to be, the real questions we have to ask ourselves is how are we going to prevent this from happening again? We have to get through this, I was so very close to having things fixed, and it seems like my hard work might really be worth while, but I don't want to fail. I am sure there is a way to get us out of this, I need to know things from the past and future, and I must find the correct way to get us through the problems. The only way to do that will be to give God control of things. It seems that I have had an idiot error. That is not acceptable.

There are so many things to tell you, today's date Wednesday June second two thousand and four. History may repeat itself again we need to remember that we are all on the same side and that one of the only ways to have success will be for us to work together from start to finish. I am really very sorry for the things that I have done and wish that history will not repeat itself and that we will all be home together. There must be a way for me to provide the needed information for you to make it through this. Why does this keep happening to me and what will it take to get through this to the end? I thought I was very close to having a successful journey but from where I am sitting now It doesn't feel like I ever really had a chance. I may have created a loop and I want to stop having to go around the loop each time. I feel that I failed you and now there must be some way to make things right. I was sad and alone because It seemed that there was no one here for me; which wasn't really true but that's how it felt. From where I am sitting I don't know what problems you may be up against but I really hope that they are all things you can overcome. Do you know God? Search for him and he will rescue you from your problems. I am very concerned that this life has been a setup for me to fail, I have to ask myself why did this happen like this. I have to wonder which came first the life I am living here and now or something else?

Find God and good things will follow; I don't want to have to go through all of this again. I thought I was a God and perhaps that is true; perhaps we are all gods. I should have done a better job to get us all through the problems. I don't know for sure what you need maybe the best thing to do will be to experiment with as many things as you can. Are things really the way you believe them to be? Prove to your self that things are right and true.

I feel like I should have been a better friend to the people around me, but I was so concerned about my work that I left very little time for the other people in my life. Where did I first meet God? Colorado. I still feel like I am not getting the answers right and this is very distressing.

For all of us to go home we will have to do something really amazing: Help take me through the process of learning and forgiving myself, It seems that I locked the computer up really tight and the best way to get things done will be to go through the computer and find the places that I have made mistakes.

I need to feel better about myself. seems this place needs people who have the courage to change things for the better. We don't want wars, We need to get my feeling in a more positive light. I should have made the earth my home, But I was looking for something that was even more wonderful. I should have been a more loyal friend, I got mixed up in my own little world that I forgot what really matters. Too many people left me alone and I stopped caring about the things that are really important. This place isn't what it seems to be. I seem to know that for a fact. I want to make a wonderful home, someplace that really stands out.

please help me with the creative process, I don't like failure and I find my self so very close to success that I can really feel that one day I will actually do my fathers will, that would make me the most happy.

What is this place, Who am I, and why am I here?

Why does it seem so very difficult to get through all of this? Must bring the end of the system of things sooner. Now I feel that I have let down lots of people, I so wish that there will be a way out for me. I talked to people about what I was going through and no one seemed to understand or know what it was that I was going through. that is a bad thing; I need to do better than that. Everything has a name. Anyways Needed to talk to some one and I hope that all of you are doing very well. Lets work on the the problems together because we have to get through this one way or another. Seems that I have had a lot of bad ideas, at least up until this point. Please help me to do better. I don't want to watch Alice in wonderland again. The problems is that I must not write a book using my Apple Computer. Someone please help me.

Topic: Be careful with your trash

Be careful with your trash; don't use cups that can be thrown away too often, Who knows what kind of responsibility comes with that. There is more than some kind of game going on here, it's really just a matter of discovering what part of the game needs to be solved. Then moving on with life as we know it, in a realm that is far from this place; Home.

What would you make wrong with the world so you could figure out that this isn't real? I wonder if people will be able figure it out with the refrigerator and the food that appears in it. that should be obvious enough for most people to get with the program. If not the orange spider will be a reminder.

Here is two ideas:

1. Turn the sky into a Kaleidoscope that never repeats itself. This lasts 500,000 years.
2. Everything that is living no longer speaks, and everything non-living speaks for 1000 years.

World peace will happen when you work for food, and money grows on trees. there is no rank and everyone gets the same meal. the sick and elderly are protected with insurance. War is just a form of terrorism the government condones.

In the future people will no longer be born they will materialize fully grown in their room with all of their belongings. This lasts for 500,000 years. When a woman becomes pregnant 10 days later she will give birth to an edible fruit; that the couple enjoys. Marriages are only for 40 days, no one marries the same person more than five times. People live to be 150 years old. The people are happy.

Do the math, it's going to be great!

Topic: Questions:

The question in my mind at this point is this: have I been programed? If so by who and why? If this is something that I did to myself, I know I did it right the first time. If this is something that someone else has done to me then I believe I am due for a full refund. I just want things to make sense; and right now very few things are making much sense.

Did it always stop at the spiders? Or did it play through the spiders every time until completed and now that I am on the other side it stops at the spiders every time except the last time. How much I hope that this is the last time and that I will never have to do this again. That would mean that this time it won't stop when the giant spiders try to take over the planet. I know there are some awful things on the other side of the spiders; then life gets significantly better for everyone.

If it always stops at the spiders, I need a new plan; and to follow it. And if this is something that someone has done to me there had better be a good explanation of why this is being done to me, also I require them to tell me why I am being kept alive in this condition. What is required to be released from the place that I am in? Why hasn't death taken me to eternal sleep? If this is death wake me up.

The point is this don't leave me here forever, and tell me what's going on.

Topic: Speaking of strange...

Do your conversations always make sense and follow a topic? If your conversations seem to not make any sense it's because your re-living the past; except you are saying what you are thinking and not what you actually were saying. You might even be thinking what you were saying and saying something else. So in a nutshell if your conversations don't make sense it's because history is repeating with minor changes. If this sounds too strange to believe then just wait a few cycles because it's really true. Some people will not have any problems with this; they always say what they are thinking; and you should too! But if people say strange things to you remember that it was what they were thinking at the time and not to take it too personal.

By the way this should stop happening very soon, and we will get on with the real life, history will always be repeating in this place, but how it repeats will change for the better.

In the future products will do exactly as the label claims it does, this will be great! The first thing that needs done is the warning on cigarettes must be taken off. Be creative in your products that you create, and give them the correct label. It's the label that makes the product effective, not the product itself. You have the responsibility to do this right the first time, no boxing dog shit and labeling it as a cure for cancer.

I have some ideas on products, use one called "mostly fluff"; made from marshmallows.

For five thousand years the sky will be a window into reality that shows what is real. There will also be a scrolling text that reads: This window is reality; you are in wonderland. I am not sure how people are going to react to this kind of news, I hope that they are not too sad about the news. All of us will get to go to where things are real one day. Until then endure through all that happens; and do your best to be happy about the life that you do have!

Topic: What happens when. . .

Here are a few things that are not going to work out well; for starters what happens to insurance companies when they discover that people don't really die, they just move on to a new body? This has plus and minus benefits. You are not able to take your money with you; but debt will never carry over from one lifetime to the next. if it does there shall be hell to pay for the individuals who are responsible.

This is one clear case of where some things shouldn't carry over after a death.

Questions in my mind and please tell me when an answer is found:

2. I should have asked him if life is worth living, I hope he will have an answer.

Topic: Future relationships.

It's difficult to plan for everything and when dealing with things that are in the future there are going to be things I haven't foreseen. So if we miss each other in one life time don't panic, there are plenty of future lifetimes for us to be together. Sometimes one of us may be busy or already in a relationship, no problem we will always be friends. The plans have already been made, right place right time.

I know what I want and why. I also know who I want to be in my life. Annie is great, and I know that she will always be a part of my life; but I also believe that she won't have me again. This is unfortunate because it would change everything. That being said if Annie could change life for everyone would get better. In the meantime I choose to be with my first real girlfriend Tanya. That is my choice for whom to have a serious relationship with. I believe that I would know her just by her eyes; but if I should miss the first clue give me a second hint and some time to think it over. I will figure it out in time; I always do.

Trust your instincts; and watch out for fakes.

Went to see the Hitch Hikers Guide to the Galaxy last night; it was good don't get me wrong, but there were simply some things that they failed to communicate. And I think that happy endings are fine but if it doesn't stick to what people already know then it doesn't really work all that well. All I am saying is that you have to read all the books to understand what was really being said and the movie will never completely compare or do justice for what was written. See for yourself.

When the dolphins said so long and thanks for all the fish, do you think they would return to earth?

I don't think so; why would they?

Topic: Comfort, Peace of mind, Solutions to your problems.

I have had to ask myself if everyone else where to be going through the same things that I go through what advise and comfort would I offer to you? What works for one person may not work for everyone but I did come up with some ideas and it's up to you to find something that works for everyone.

Problem Depressed: First find out and discover why you are depressed. To do this spend enough time writing daily and talking about what you write that you can communicate how you are feeling. Once you discover why you are depressed see what you can do to fix the problem yourself. If you don't fix the problem yourself get some help, friends, family, strangers, or a last resort doctors. It might take years to discover the reason why you are depressed; don't give up keep going. Once you know why you are depressed you can choose to either let go of the obstacle; obtain what you are lacking; make peace with it; or follow your own course of action to remedy the problem. If you see someone else who is depressed do what you can to help them make a good recovery.

Problem: Feeling Programed: This one is tricky; Since everything you do is programed and your real personality is locked away and not even available for consultation you have to make some serious evaluations that will require some time, patience, and assistance. The first thing that needs done is a study of five thousand individuals who feel that they are programed. Evaluate them in three different settings by seeing how long they can go without moving. (Maybe all they need is to change their surroundings to something more suitable) Time the duration that they are still and then evaluate why they moved; this should be carefully studied using different positions finding the ones that are most suitable. (Breathing is permitted). Then compare the average to individual patients. There is probably no medication that can help this feeling. (I have been on anti-psychotics and a bunch of other stuff, nothing helps). In this mode there are no accidents, because everything is programed there is really nothing that can change the outcome of your life, except how you choose to deal with it, might be up to the programming that you take in. Start with breathing exercises closing your eyes and picturing various places and times. Move to regular physical therapy where your body is controlled by someone else (or something else) they should move your body to various positions, that bring comfort to you. This can bring you the feelings of having the programming broken and give some temporary relief. Here is something that you can take comfort in knowing: Ask who programmed me? And why did they program me? Your just going to have to trust me that it's for a good reason and the feelings are not permanent. We are all programed; some of us just don't feel it. The bible says it does not belong to man to direct even his own step! If God programed us, I say it was for a good reason, and I trust him with my life and future. So accept it, let go of what is holding you back and never give up. Another idea would be to do as many different creative mediums as possible until you find one you like and are good at. Then you have the responsibility to create even if it takes you a thousand attempts keep going and create as many pieces of art as you can. Remember that you are programed and it's not your art but Gods.

Topic: Vacation 1 of 2

I have decided that I am going to take a vacation when I am finished with this life. I will be gone for a thousand years and I am not telling anyone where I am going other than this: It's not this planet, the planet I am going to has a population of fifty of the most beautiful lady's ever created and I will make love to ten lady's a day;. All the while drinking wine, eating cheese and grapes and discussing my future plans for the earth. All of this God work has made me tired and cranky, you just have to understand this is something that I have to do for myself. Sorry for leaving you in a lurch but you are just going to have to deal with it. I promise the next time I go on vacation I will leave things in better shape for you and not feeling so abandoned.

Topic: Warning

When in future bodies if you see me and I have brown eyes tell no one, ever! You didn't see me, nor do you know where I was, who I was with, or what I was doing. You are welcome to talk with me, for as long as I will let you. Just make sure that I am wearing sunglasses, and expensive ones at that! And if your female asking for a date wouldn't be too much on your part. This is VERY important; please respect my wishes, my privacy and my work. Quick recap if I have brown eyes I am a figment of your imagination; tell no one. If you see me and I have blue eyes you should tell the president; I am not joking.

I was in a bit of a hurry when I wrote this; use your best judgment. I want to have people around me and have the time to complete my work. I don't need the bullshit that comes from everyone knowing where I am at. In addition I will want and need lots of female company/ companionship/lovers. But my work comes first (with-in reason, Somebody needs to make sure that I have a good time on a regular basis) and it's probably not the kind of work one does to make a living (if so great), but making the world a better place for everyone (maybe just us). Who knows what I will be doing; ask me if I have it figured out yet. I usually always know what the hell it is that I am doing; but don't be afraid to point me in the right direction.

Topic: Frog and Toad are not friends; ever.

I have decided to turn my enemies into toads. Since I talked this over with my mother and she thought that 1000 years was too long it will only last a hundred years. During that time there shall be the terrorizing toad eating monsters. They (The Toads) will live in constant dread and fear; knowing that their very life is in danger.

All the while us (The Frogs) will live a life of comfort and ease. Enjoying life as we have it and making plans for what we shall do when we are human again. This should be like a long vacation and everybody gets to take something away from it. New perspective, better attitudes, and a strong desire to live life to the fullest. May our hearts be filled with hope and love for one another.

Don't hate me for this; I am just doing my job and it's not easy to make these kinds of choices. There is a very good reason for why I have chosen this course of action. I don't know what it is yet, but I will tell you when it's over. When your human again you may have to hold your breath like a frog until it's over; just some friendly advise.

Topic: Avatar

Not everyone has a custom avatar - they cost a lot and most will be willing to wear a sally, sara, sandy, or jane. But not everyone will wear a Christopher, those cost allot. But boy let me tell you it's worth every penny. Some will walk, many will hitch a ride but don't let it be known you have a free ride. There is not a gift in the sea. And even nature knows it's toll. If you pay attention then there is no friction.

Sometimes we have to take the body we can get, but it's all for a good reason never fear. I give this warning: even if you could afford my body, you would not make it two days trapped inside of a Christopher. For anyone other than me it will only end in suicide and the experience will leave you heaving for many lifetimes. Don't even try it; I warn you!

Topic: Don't Hate us, don't love us; Respect and carry a sense of awe for us.

In the near future all hate will be removed from everyone and everything. This will last for five thousand years. This should be great; there will be no violence and people will finally be nice to one another in a way that the earth has not seen in a very long time. (Since last time this happened)

During this time the work week should be shortened to just two days; giving the individual a total of five days off each week. This can be used anyway you want and make the best use of your time.

The combined effect of these two items should result in a less stressful life, being happier, and in general a better lifestyle for everyone. Things will cost less, and your money will buy more.

For Tracy who came up with the idea, and I agreed that it was a good idea at the time.

Topic: What I would do with a lifetime. . .

I believe that one lifetime should be spent this way: Make it virtually impossible to kill yourself or be hurt in any way. Then the first order of business is to make life fun going from one adventure to the next and along the way it becomes more fun, exciting and intense. It starts out with "oh that was fun" and through the process of a few hundred thousand adventures finishes in a grand finale with one great climax that no one has ever been able to describe. You wake up in your next life fully grown and find you have had a wet dream. Was it real? Did any of that really happen? You had better believe that it did; just don't hurt yourself in your future life, but remember to have fun. So be careful when you wake up, get in touch with reality and find out what the rules are. You have been doing things that are impossible and no one is likely to do again.

Update

I have been out of town again sorry for the lack of updates for the last week. Plus I had to send my computer into Apple and have them fix the problem with my screen. So I am starting all over with getting organized and making things look the way I want them to. It's no fun restoring everything from scratch, getting your music files set back up, and configuring the system to do what you want it to.

This also means all of my past entries will have to be found in the archive 01 section, sorry for the inconvenience, but I didn't save all the right files needed to use the existing data, there was just no way to restore the data files. But if you have time I would recommend you check them out as well.

I have some reserved feelings about the way things have been going, I am not really sure if it's something I really like or care for, but that is the way things are going. I am looking for answers, and it's time to start having someone who can talk to me about what is really going on with out the risk of losing what I have, or them trying to influence me in ways that are not appropriate.

Best wishes.

There are some things you should be aware of, Thursday is coming. Now I may not be able to give you the best advice but I have lots of ideas. Sometimes good ideas, and other times not so good ideas. But you have to be the one to decide for yourself if you want to be insane enough to follow me.

I am going to have something in my pocket come Thursday, and I recommend you do the same. If you are curious you will have to email me and ask, but be sure to do so before Thursday. I am only telling you as I know, so sorry for the short notice but I am doing the best I can. This may not apply after Thursday April 8, 2004. So use your best judgment, OK.

update: What's going on?

So I posted a few files online, and if you are really curious as to what's in my brain, you can ask for the urls or if you are really clever you can find them on your own. However you will have to think like a web master to find them. I do not make any warranty re- garding the information found therein. But it's somewhat of a map of where I have been. I think the blog is a better idea of where I am now, but it doesn't have all of the information that may be of importance. It's up to you.

I thought of simple posting the links, but I don't have time to edit out everything that may have to come out, but I want them online. So it's kind of raw. I am doing the best I can.

So now I have to figure out what kind of gift to give my family? I want to do something great that they will appreciate and that will be of real value for a long time. Lets just hope I can pull this off.

So the same old things going on, but nobody is paying attention.

It was once said there is nothing new under the sun, this is probably more true than they would like to admit. But they keep trying to cover that fact up and telling people everything is going to be ok. That might be true for a select few, but in general that is not something that I really believe. At some point things are going to get better, but the facts are staying the same, and people are just not getting with the truth.

Maybe someday that is something that will change and the world will be a better place, until then we have to make the best of the situation and do as we can, keep believing, stay focused, and most of all what ever happens just remember that very little will be permanent. so until then drive fast.

I am not happy.

So people have used me and now it's time for people to have to pay. I am not happy and I am not happy with having messed things up to the point that there is so little hope. I have to ask myself how long I am going to continue to do this for? why don't I just give up? because that is not an option. I have questions that no one can give me answers to, and I have problems that feel bigger than the world itself.

Fuck them, Fuck the world.

Stuff you should know.

I think it's a bad idea to eat some of these foods:

Fast food wrapped in paper.

And pay attention right now because if they change that the food is still bad. fuck them.

Be careful what shirts you where. If you wear a shirt that says Hustler on it you will probably end up with your pictures in their magazine. Test this out and see if this is true.

Fuck them.

Speaking of clothing do as little laundry as possible. there is stuff going on with that too! Bastards.

Did You know. . .

Did you know the stars have always moved through the night sky? True. From dusk to dawn you could watch the stars as they moved through the night sky from east to west. And the stars would change places during the seasons too! Sometimes there would be a solar eclipse, if there is an eclipse in the daytime under NO circumstances should you watch it. Go inside and hide under the covers. This is really important.

But if the stars stop moving through the heavens that would mean that someone has done something really naughty. Bastards.

Do you remember the twin towers? Oh please don't forget about that. What you don't remember 9/11 and that we were attacked by terrorists? On home soil. Ok remember this one for size, Pear Harbor. Ring any bells?

Let me tell you that the world is not wired up the way people think it is, So think twice about your actions.

Strange

So what every it was I was going for didn't work out. Not sure how to feel about that fact, but lets just say that it's not something that I feel really good about. It makes me doubt some of my ideas and what I think is really going on. Lets just hope that I am not crazy, and all this shit really is happening.

That in some ways would be a comfort, and that is really all I am looking for right now is some comfort from this sick sad fucked up planet.

Seems every turn takes me further from where I want to be. How is that possible? I don't know but I am going to do everything I can to start doing exactly perfect in the up- coming events. You never look back at where you have been, but you keep moving forward working towards your goals and you never give up.

No matter what happens it's up to each person to do the best they can. We are all in this together and it's up to all of U.S. to be strong and be there for one another. Some- day this will all be over with and they will not win.

Drive fast.

Friday Night, Nothing to do, nowhere to go.

Just doing the same things as always. Stayed home and had some warm beer. This week didn't go as planned and that kind of sucks. But there will always be another day to change the world. I want to have some friends and a girl friend for some loving. There must be some way to make life better. I am not sure what that might be but it would be nice to get through this and move on the next position.

You know what . . .

I have been feeling bored, and that is probably never a good thing as being bored of- ten leads to my some- what anti social feeling and behaviors. I think given the right cir- cumstances I could do a significant amount of good things with the right environment and working conditions.

The only way I am going to lighten up is for the over all situation and feeling of things to ease up. I expect better things than what I currently have.

Stupid fucking life

I am tired of this fucking life, somebody give me a reason to keep living and to do something. But what I really want is to feel better. I tired of feeling this way. If and when I get to feeling better things might be different but right now things seem to really fucked up and there is no purpose to continue living. Unless I have the time and opportunity to resolve the problems and really fix them then this life is a complete waste of time - Just waiting for an end.

Thats no way to live.

So I met with Y the other day, he didn't seem to know what was going on either. But at least it was a good meeting and so there may be future potential there for friendship of some kind. I probably won't be happy with how things work out, but I am starting to get used to that; Feels like nothing is really working for me.

At least I have all kinds of good thoughts on how to fix things. Now it's just a matter of getting the opportunity to really do something great. I don't know what to tell you, life is what it is, but things could be made better.

I have thought of starting a second blog just to keep some people out of my head, but on second thought there is no reason to do so. I even thought of making a password for this blog, but on second thought I think it's better to do this right out in the open and not fuck around with things any more than I have to.

That being said if you want to know how to keep people out of your head write me and I might give you the answer. Otherwise you will have to figure it out for yourself. I will give you a hint: carry something in your pocket.

making the grade

Maybe things are going better for me than planned, but does the plan result in what I am really wanting?

There are things that I don't want, and things that I would rather not go through again. But can we keep all things from being lost? I hope so; That is at least part of my plan. But in the bigger picture someday I want to return home where I really belong. I have a good idea what this place is now, the goal becomes making the best of the journey and actually enjoying the ride. Wouldn't that be grand.

There is a way out, I want to. . .

Insane Not Crazy

So things seem a bit awkward, but things are insane not crazy keep that in mind. To- day has kept dragging on and on with little real progress. I have to wonder what the point is. Maybe there is no point and it's all a matter of keeping my senses and feeding my head the right info at the right time.

There are things that would make the situation better, like say fifty billion dollars in the bank. Life could be really cool for a while with that kind of dough to play with. Who knows what kind of fun stuff I could do with that much money. It's only second to actually getting to being free from this computer slave life.

What else can be done? I am doing the best I can and that means keeping with the program and sticking to this no matter what. But what I really want is the best life has to offer. That and for my real friends to have the same. I want my friends to be at the same level as me and to be free.

There must be some way to keep things moving to the right level and stay focused to what is true.

Yeah and how is your life?

Do you believe in pre-destination?

Do you believe we have control over our lives and that we can change what happens to ourselves?

That was never really something that I took to believing, but it helps to ask the tough questions while we can... For some reason I believe that there is nothing that can be done to change what we have done in the past, but we do have some control over what we do right now. But remember that what happens must happen for a reason. Maybe things will work themselves out. What I want is to change the past. Because I want a better life than I had last time. There are just some things that I never want to go through again.

But maybe this is all bullshit and you would be better off reading the news paper.

It's been a boring week.

Not much going on here the last few days, seems like it's been a real chore just to get through the week. I am hoping for a great weekend and at least a better week next week. Feels like things just have not been going my way at all. And to boot seems like lots of things I was hoping for didn't work out as planned.

I just hope that things do turn out for the best and that there is little or no screw ups. Things have to start working and for the better. I know you don't always get what you want, but I am hoping that someday I will. I have my reasons; but I need some reasons to keep going. I want my photography to do very good, and I want to have a future in making photography an art. I like to photograph people and things that are abstract finds when you least expect them.

I don't want to give up; I have come this far and there is every reason to keep going, maybe it's just a matter of being patient enough to outlast the fuckers. I can do that too.

I know what it's like to be alone

I am just the stranger from God and which ever I choose it amounts to the same: absolutely nothing. And what ever I do it will be wrong so there is no doubt that very little still matters. I am as good as dead and so is everyone else on this screwed up planet. so what do we have to live for and what keeps us going?

It's not a matter of if it's only a question of when. When do you want to die? Personally I don't believe in death only changing places. But the world is all fucked up and nothing really matters so go fuck yourself.

I need to get some things under control

I need to get my head back to a working condition and have the problems that are afflicting me under control. Sometimes I find myself in this bad state that is so difficult to get out of. It's difficult because I have all this stuff in my head and it plays some really funky mind games with myself. I either need to get some validation on the things that I am thinking, or remove those thoughts from my head and lead a normal life again. Personally I choose option #1. I just hope I am right on this stuff, I believe in the end it will work out best for the majority of people.

There are other things that I need too! Like a few good friends, a lover, and some really fun times. I want to great friends from long ago. It would be nice to see people and actually be happy to see them. I haven't had very much of that in a long time.

I shouldn't have made such a rant last night but that was where I was at: this is as real as things get.

So until other wise noted:

I have had to make up my mind that all of this crap is really just in my head and there is no reason to believe there is anything going on. So I guess I am wrong and it's all make believe. I have no validation to believe otherwise and until then I have to live some kind of normal life. And keep my mind and head strait. I simply don't want to go on this way if there is no proof of what I think and believe.

It's a sad day.

Someone please. . .

Find a way to bring me up to speed with things. I am tired of this feeling of not being able to Win. There must be some way to make this feeling go away and to stop the fail- ure from continuing any further. The break down is completely on my side but there must be some way to fix me. I feel broken and my usefulness seems to less than what I would hope for. This is not acceptable for me to continue down this path. I don't know how much more of this I can take. I feel like I really screwed things up tonight and I am just not sure how to get over these feelings. If I had some good guidance things would be better. I am not able to explain why I do the things that I do, and often there have been mixed feelings about what to do. I am listening to my self and it doesn't always make sense. Someone please help me get my stuff together. I often feel really close; How can I do better?

Boredom with the Norm.

So basically I have been feeling rather bored and am doing the best I can to be pro- ductive during the day, there are lots of things that I want to do. I might take a road trip this next week and take some photos. I hope to do that soon. I have expectations that things will start to pick up for me soon enough. I am looking forward to the time when I can be with my friends and start doing things together. There are people I want to meet and things I want to do together. But most of all I would like to have a lover, someone who can be close to me. I hate sleeping alone. But of course I want more than that . . .

So things have finished off rather well this week, all things considered. Have plans for Tomorrow which is always a good thing. And in that train of thought how often do you think of other people? Do you do nice things for those around you? We got a great card in the mail from an almost anonymous source it was very cute and very clever. Nice move. Thanks.

There are so many things to figure out it would take a wise man a week or really maybe much longer. What do you know about the world? Pack of angry wolves destroy Chi-nese; we believe them to be unstoppable.

So I had a few good experiences over the weekend; went to a club on Saturday and had Bar B Q in San Diego today. Saw some strange things when I went to the club on Saturday; I wanted to get there early and so I had time to walk around and see some of the sights. There were a few sights there let me just say that much; anymore than that would probably breach confidential information. Strange place for a church don't you think?

So today is going well; I went to the mall and picked up a few treasures, spent the rest of the afternoon playing with said new toys. I guess I have to do something. . . Wednesday is looking good for a big hike. I guess that's what I am going to be up to tomorrow. I have switched to drinking whole milk, I guess I am not in a very good mood, or perhaps I am in a great mood and am simply totally fucking tired of people fucking with me. people do things to me when I go places, and I simply will not put up with it anymore. Next person who starts something with me gets there you know what kicked into next month.

This guy at the mall tried messing with me today; trying to make things in the future difficult for me. I have news: whatever they try to do to me, I will return a hundred fold and much worse than they ever dreamed.

Speaking of dreams I am going to give them bad dreams things they won't be able to wake up from. I am that pissed off.

I am sad

I have not written her for some time now mostly because I have been too messed up in the head to express the things that I am going through and right now I seem to be having a great deal of difficulty in making sense of the world and the things in it. I am right now wishing that history will not continue to repeat itself. The things that have happened and seem to continue to happen are simply too terrible to have to go through again. And my feelings are that things are that if things don't work out we are all going to be in a great deal of trouble. I see my self doing things but how can I make improvements where they are needed when I feel this messed up?

I feel like many people have trusted me and I have let them down. I need someone to help me do better, because otherwise I fear that we will never make it through all of this. I should have asked for better things. Really. I have had all of these bad ideas and for some reason I have played along with them and fallen into a trap that seems very difficult to escape from.

History seems to be repeating itself and the question is why? Have I been sentenced to life in a place that is almost impossible to escape from. I feel everything is a big setup and that I don't have control over my life. and that I am responsible for trapping millions of innocent people in a place that we should have never gone into. Please forgive me for doing this and for the future lives that we will no doubt have to go through, I should have been a better person and a more loyal friend.

A few of the things that I want

To figure out the things that must be discovered and actually do the right things at the right time to make everything work out in the end. There must be some way to get that done. I feel like I am asking a lot; and maybe I am, however I am only asking for the things that I feel are really needed. I want to know the truth, and then follow a course of action that will put my life in order and bring me back on course to be successful in my life work. I often feel so close but I need better information to really make good choices, and I feel like I have made some bad choices to get to here, I hope they are only small mistakes that can be easily corrected.

Seems one of the problems I have suffered from too much is low self esteem, that and I have hurt myself in subtle ways that I didn't even know I was doing it. Now I have to correct the problems, or deal with the problems my own low self worth has brought about. It is my wish to recover from this and never have to suffer from this again.

Speaking of things that are really needed I am in some awful need for some real friends. Seems like living life this way is just too difficult. How long will it go on this way? I need people that I can trust and that I can talk to about what I am really thinking. I feel like I have messed things up and I just want to save all the things that need saved.

You probably have no idea what I am talking about; let's just say that I am going through some really heavy stuff and I am looking for a way to complete something that feels impossible. If you have been reading my blog I would really like to hear from you, please send me an email just to say hi, I would really appreciate it!

Thursday

There seems to be some confusion as to what is really going on; I wish there was an easy way to clear all of that up and make things better. What I do know is that I do not want to fail. And it's going to take some kind of miracle for me to pull this off and make everything work the way it is supposed to, as a matter of fact it's going to take more than one. I was working at being humble at a time when I should have asked for more, now in looking back it would have been better to have asked for what was needed to fix the problem. Five things isn't enough, so next time around I hope to ask for a million things at the right time.

I have questions, like why are we having to go through this again? There must be some way to make the train stop early, or reset the game to the starting position and create a new day.

Not cool

So I spend ten minutes here writing an entry and hit the refresh abstract button and the program crashes and I lost the whole entry. Now I have to ask myself if I feel like re- writing the whole thing over again?

I guess I will have to give the condensed version here: What happens to all of our trash? All of those cups with your name on them? Do you think that we will have to be responsible for all of those? I think a good solution is to stop using paper and plastic cups altogether and switch to real glasses. You know the kind that can be re-used time and again. Personally I feel that it would be a real sham to have to be responsible for all that trash in the afterlife. Too many people have forgotten what things are really like and the further down the line of time we go ... the only way is for people to wise up and get with the program. We need to understand life past what happens today; we need to know what happens when a person dies.

Other news seems like nobody is reading my blog, I am sure that it's simply a matter of my friends not knowing where I am or how to find me. I did do a quick check and found that I come up in the top ten on a google search for my name, and number one on a search for the blog title. That still doesn't mean that people can find me, so I have to wonder what to do next. It's ok because I don't even know who my friends are anyways; so I doubt they know me, YET.

I get the feeling

I feel like a person that has seen the future, but does my future have success in it? Somewhere there must be a way to break these chains that keep mankind locked into slavery. But it's not something that I can do by myself. Right now it feels like I keep messing up, and I am having a hard time dealing with that. I don't like to feel like I am screwing things up, not for myself or anyone else.

I believe there are some really smart people out there maybe even the ones reading this blog; can you figure out what is going on? Heck even three year olds know as I was told "You are in a cage" exact quote from a child. So what is the way to get out of this cage and how do we all escape the cruel hands of opposition? I will tell you, we all work together. But there are plenty of things that I have to do better. If there is anyone to blame it will have to be myself.

I used to think that I needed a girlfriend and friends, today I feel I needed to be a better man.

How can things be this way?

Seems to me that things shouldn't be this way, There must be some way to forgive my- self of the things that I have done. What is the best way to go about this process? I am going to find out soon enough. It would be nice for everything to work out just fine. There are some things that I will need to know it's about time for someone to tell me what I need to know.

We are in for a bumpy ride so I recommend that you close the hatches and buckle in, Of course we make it, but it's going to be the greatest ride anyone has ever been on before or ever again. Do what you have to do today; because it's important. Don't wait until tomorrow. This ride feels like it's down to the wire and if we are not having fun we had better be, because that's what it's all about. Live your life to the full; be thankful for what you have, have gratitude for this life.

There must be a way out of this puzzle.

I wish I could share the feelings that I am having right now; it feels like . . . I won't share it's too sad and disturbing. I know there are a very few of you who actually read my blog except maybe those of you who read this in the future. What's it going to take for my way to actually be successful? It feels like I have chosen the hard way for this entire mission and what I really wish is to be finished with this silly game and get to go home.

I guess the second things that I want are to start getting everything done perfectly, to fix the things that are broke and change the course of history to something that we can all live with.

So many thoughts in my mind.

There are so many thoughts that I want to share with you; like what I do everyday and the boring things that I have to go through to get through the day. But the things I really want to share with you would be the things that cross my mind everyday. I am worried about the future and how things are going to turn out. No doubt there are lots of things that you are going to need to survive this. We are all going to need things to survive this. We are going to have to know what side we are on and why; it's only logical to want to know that.

Right now I am working on a Journal project and it's going to take some time to get everything finished in time. But I am not too worried about that; it should happen all as it should. My life feels like a setup; that is for sure, there are so many fun problems to be solved it's going to take some time to get through all of this. Now I wish I wouldn't have thrown one of my tools away. I guess there are just some things to be learned from doing things the hard way. What I don't understand is why we don't all get along and play nice with each other?

I fear that I have created an accounting problem in the computer, this could be a problem with my plans; I hope that it doesn't have any impact on how things turn out. So far things seem just too funky to be true. I do believe that I have a destiny and that everything in the end will work out just fine; but the road getting there is somewhat long and doesn't always make sense at the time. The good news is we will get to the end of the road and start a new life that is so wonderful that this life will simply be one piece of the past, we won't have to dwell on it to enjoy the real life.

Why do they want me to fail?

There is good reason to believe that they want me to fail, but the sad news is that if I fail everyone loses. But when I am successful in this game then everyone will be happy. I was so close and the truth of the matter is that close isn't good enough; so we have to do all of this over again. You know what the sad part is until they learn to leave me photographs and writings in the game all the way through it's going to take a miracle for me to be successful.

I have seen this game and understand its conclusion; I know that it will come back to here until I learn to get a few key pieces right. It's up to me and I didn't get the stuff right this time. What other options are there? Right now I don't see very many, so it's up to time to turn this into the next time. When will I get the things done right? Soon I hope I don't want to have to go through this again - there are parts of the future that are simply too awful for anyone to have to go through again. I want this to end, but I want the ending that I can live with. We are close; pray that tomorrow never comes and we will make it with a wind in our sails.

Better find out soon

I am feeling better; there are still plenty of things that I want and most of them have to do with getting to go home. Somehow I believe that we are going to have to do all of this over again. How do you feel about having to relive your life? Personally I believe this is a bad solution to the problem but what else can we do? Most of my days are spent with a good deal of isolation from other people; I am hoping that this will change shortly. I am sorry that I have been on this sad gloomy kick for the last few months, but this is what I am really going through right now and until things get cleared up for me it's not likely that you will see anything other than just what I am going through up here.

I feel that life is worth living and it's good to be grateful for everyday and the things that we do have; but I want more for my life! I don't understand how the whole life cycles works as of yet; but I know that we will all live again and what comes in our next lives? Does how we live in this life impact our future lives? That doesn't sound fair, you would think that each life has a fair chance at becoming what it will become. I need to study and find what others teach.

Learn to think

I must say that this is very important; have you learned to think past your fast food addiction? Not only is the question where does that stuff come from but better yet what is it doing to the rest of your body?

I seem to believe that the whole world is geared up to keeping people from figuring out the truth about what is really going on; wouldn't you like to know what is really going to happen in a 100 years from now, how about a thousand years from now. More than likely it will still be all of the same people just in different bodies. Are you going to be able to recognize your friends?

Learn to think, learn everything you can about the earth and discover how things really work for yourself. The more people who know what is really going on the better. We have to work together for this to be really successful. I am doing the best that I can to get the facts right; seems to be a difficult job.

I am looking for people that understand what I am talking about and can contribute to the big picture because the sooner that we can complete the puzzle the better prepared we are to deal with whatever problems we have to face.

Please help for the cause.

There has to be a better way to do this (Life)

Seems to me there must be a better way to live this life; there are bored people, people without friends and just a lot of miserable jerks. What's it going to take for people to wake up and smell the b.s. ?

I have some ideas on how to solve these problems and the problems that are coming in the future. The question is will anyone listen to what I have to say? I have ideas on things that would blow your mind. The things that I want: a better future and a world where this doesn't have to happen again. There are so many things to tell you about. Be a friend...

There are things that are going to change, are you ready for them? I hope so because parts of this ride are going to be a bit bumpy. You had best hold onto your hats. I am looking for the path that leads to home, anyone with information leading to my making it home will find they have gained a friendship that will never be broken.

Need better content...

So I just got my film back from the photo finishers and I feel a little disappointed with how my pictures look. I guess I am just hoping for more than what is available. I am looking for content that really has something going on, not just postcard shots. If you know of a great place to take photos please let me know as I would love to get the shots. I believe that what I am looking for is content in the picture that tells a story, something my past black and white work has done very well.

Fame at what price?

So I am looking at the way things are going and I have to wonder why I am doing this? Why keep going down a road that only ends? I have to ask myself if I really know what's going on; it's like do I even have a clue? Sure I want to have more than I do now, but I don't want to loose in the race for life to do it.

How can I gain a good name and make it through the things that are going to happen? I don't know but there must be a way to make that work out. So far the options are look- ing to be somewhat bleak, I need some friends, and a girl friend. I feel like I have been fighting with the thoughts in my head, sometimes it's more than I can take alone. There must be some way to keep my head sane and still deal with these thoughts in a logical way. I am really pissed off at the people who have messed me up, I won't say what I want to do to them. Lets just say it isn't nice. Thank you for saying nice and kind things to me, but when the time comes to tell the truth I would rather know what is true, so just say it.

How long can you stay in your room?

I feel trapped in my life and almost like I have been banished to my room. There must be some way to find some people who are companions. I feel like I am making poor choices in life and I would love to change so many things for the better. The future may already be decided. That kind of thinking really bothers me, it's not the way that things should be.

It's too late to save what is already past, but there is reason to believe that we can make the future better. Since nobody is reading this it really doesn't make sense to keep posting. I will have to think about this.

The Universe

Wouldn't it be great to live in a Universe where people could move between galaxies by just stepping into a transport pad. I would like to explore the Universe and discover the things that are hidden from us on Planet earth. It would be nice to meet some of the other life forms that must exist. I imagine the Universe is big enough you could give every person who has ever lived there own galaxy for there own pleasure and personal use. Wouldn't that be cool, you and a mate with your own galaxy to play with, Imagine what you could do.

In other news I am feeling better most days and have some real things going for me again; it's about time! And although it isn't as much as I would like to get done, at least it's something. Today I picked up the photos that were scanned and played with them in the computer, put them on the web and also made print outs for my portfolio. I am happy to have such a good high quality printer, its doing great work. I also did a test shoot today and if the results come back right I will have a new place to do fashion photography. I will let you know.

Project

So I have a project I am working on; right now I am not sure how to get it off the ground, but I want to see it flying high. My car is broken down so I am out of transportation for a short while. I think that is going to be putting a bumner on my day. Some days I feel perfectly sane, other days I find myself questioning reality. Today felt more like the latter; but what I want are days of perfect clarity. I believe this isn't too much to ask for, I have been practicing my meditation techniques and hope to find something that will work.

There are so many things that I want to work on; my artwork, my project, myself. I just hope to have everything that must be done completed on time. What are you going to do with your life?

Today has been a little funky, just doing the best I can to get through the day. But that is never enough for me; I want more than that. What's the logic behind creating great art work? This is something I ask myself as I work at creating my next masterpiece. I have the stuff inside me, but working it out to the point where it becomes a picture in my mind is the difficult part. I guess my question is when will my next breakthrough happen?

So far I am doing better everyday; somethings still need a lot of work, and let me tell you I am doing everything that I can to make it to the next level as soon as possible. The work is there waiting for me, it's just a matter of doing it. I have a wish list, now I just have to figure out how to purchase everything that my heart is wanting. Lets just hope that some good things will come through for me and make things easy for me and my family. Winning the Super-Lotto would be cool now wouldn't it?

So like for the 1000th time today I am feeling pretty darn bored. Not sure what to do; or rather I have things that I want to do but they all seem beyond my current grasp. I have a feeling that some things are going to not come through, and others will.

I don't want another week to go by where things just stay the same, I need some changes in life that will bring about a whole new way of living. I think such a thing is possible; it's just a matter of time! But it's hard to wait to live your life when it feels so short.

You were lost, and I was sad. I looked everywhere or so I thought. I even went for a drive to find you. But you were not there. The Dog did it. Once again the dog tore up all the toilet paper. He thinks its great fun to shred the rolls in the living room. The best part is he pulls them apart and strings them around the house. Sometimes we can salvage a roll or two, but they often have teeth marks going half way though the roll. So once again Max was having the time of his life. Dogs rule the Universe

There is no better friend than a dog! It's the cats you have to watch out for. What I am going to say next may sound a little strange but it's all true.

Some people shouldn't have dogs, and people that name there dogs badly need a swift kick in the pants. I believe the dog is one step below man in the reincarnation process, name your dog well and it's likely to become human. Name your dog bear - and it shows your a complete F'ing moron when it comes to animals.

Cats on the other hand only have one name, rufus. Imagine what would happen if eve- ryone named their cat rufus. think about it...

you see names play a huge part in the process of reincarnation - every thing has a name. name your flowers, ants, bee's, lizards, fish, Dogs, tree's, mice, deer and most of all bears. Give these animals good names.

Don't kill an insect you haven't given a name to. There are exceptions; crickets, cock- roaches, rats, gold fish, caterpillars, mosquitos shouldn't be named; unless you can name them something mean and it's funny. I know someone with a three legged cat, named trike now thats funny!

So what's a good name for a Great Dane or dogs in general: Prince or spot. Max is a good name too, choose wisely and help animals make it through to being human; fail to be good to animals in this regard and you shall suffer greatly.

Speaking of suffering. . . Do you remember being an ant?

The best fifty cents I ever spent . . .

No it wasn't for a refill for a cup of coffee, the coffee here is lousy, this happened when ..

I was seventeen and spent two weeks out of state; it was mostly a lonely time for me, there wasn't much to do. I wandered around town feeling lost, out of place and mostly bored. When I happened upon the library and found they were having a book sale. That's how I found Stanyan Street and other sorrows by Rod McKuen. I spent the after- noon sitting in a coffee shop drinking espresso and reading the poetry. Since then I have probably read the book a hundred times, but it always comes out the same. I guess I feel lonely in this world and what he said makes sense. The book has two inscriptions on the inside front cover and it adds to the overall feel of the theme of the book; love that is now gone.

What is the best fifty cents you ever spent?

Almost a thousand words...

Moon Key

A photograph in two parts

This image fills my head, I begin to swim through it's lines, tracing it's perfect arc from one edge of the image to the other. Then across the image again and I begin to feel the chill in the shadows. Some shadows are colder than others, some deeper and darker. There is one shadow I begin to trace in my mind and slowly I realize that it's shaped just like a key; this shadow is dark and cold, like a winter night on a high mountain. I don't see what has created this shadow, but I know it exists all the same, the proof is there; the shadow exists and what created it is no longer there.

I begin to follow another shadow and realize this one is warmer, it is complete. I follow it back and forth several times noting the high places and the low places; small mountains that are shaped like diamonds. In the shadow through the darkness I look down to see the surface of what appears to be a moon.

Connected to the shadow appears to be a large silver sphere sitting on the surface of this moon. The sphere is smooth and shiny, looking into it I see my own reflection. The sphere is still warm like it had been sitting in the sun all day long, but it's beginning to cool quite fast.

Further on exploring the surface of this moon we discover strange textures of all kinds. Some places have seen heavy wear and the protective surface has been damaged; leaving behind a cold dark steel surface. Other places the protective coating is intact leaving a smooth surface for us to walk upon.

There is a deep pit, after climbing down into it we discover more high places. After exploring for a while we realize that one of these high places is the letter "R". While looking around we further find other letters but are unable to make out their entire shape. What does this mean?

After fully exploring the moon we discover the fact that we are trapped inside a photograph. We did manage to find a clue on the sphere which reads "To unlock the moon say the magic word". But what is the magic word and how do we find it?

It's then you realize you are thirsty; and the magic word is. . .

Moon Key Part two

As I looked through the view finder in the dim light of evening I knew this was going to be one of my favorite photographs. The way the shapes make use of the space shows the viewer a story about the moon being unlocked if such a thing is possible.

Moon key is a photograph about an idea; it uses simple lines to convey the feeling of two worlds. It also uses shadows in a way to suggest the key is hidden. The partial view of the water cover makes me wonder if water is also part of the key. It at least plays a major role in unlocking the moon's potential.

The greater half of a circle which is a cover for a water main makes the majority of the picture. You can see where the paint on the raised spots has been taken off, showing the steel beneath. The raised spots really add to the texture of this photograph also showing the age of the cover; it's very much like the moon in the fact that the moon has large craters from the meteors that have struck its surface.

The smaller circle is a steel bearing placed here to add emphasis to the half circle, and complete the structure of a full circle in the frame. It's smooth surface really contrasts that of the water cover, with it's reflective surface you can see the street lamps that provided the lighting for this shot to be possible. It is also like the moon in it's reflective surface, providing light during the dark nights.

This image was taken just after sun set using existing light from nearby street lamps; the exposure was a full thirty seconds with the aperture wide open. (or maybe it was f 22)

Two stones in my pocket

My parents always told me if your going to have a religion you shouldn't let the mem- bers carry rocks in their pockets. But there is something about having a rocks in your pocket that makes it worthwhile. So this is just to let you know that it's ok with me if you want to carry rocks in your pocket. After all you have to have your indian weather rock to accurately tell the weather. It's like this you hold the rock in your hand with your arm extended. If the rock gets wet it's raining, if the rock freezes it's very cold, if the rock is warm and dry it's probably a nice day. In times of peace carry dull rocks; but in times of war carry sharp rocks. Just don't let aliens catch you with rocks in your pockets; they hate that!

As Neil Halstead said "two stones in my pocket, I would give them both to you now, you need them more than me"

Update: what kind of rock? agate is the best!

Think for yourself!

When was the last time you thought about the universe and wondered why so much space? Or considered which direction our galaxy the milky way is traveling through space? Just what do you think about? Does your mind run deep or shallow? There are so many distractions to fill your mind up - are those your thoughts or somebody else's? I believe sometimes you just have to disconnect yourself from almost everything and find out what the mind really thinks about. I think that idea fright- ens most people; don't be a scardy cat do it!

My point is this: I don't watch T.V. or listen to the radio very often and my thoughts run deep. I like it that way, there is no one telling me what to laugh at or when to do it. My thoughts are mine alone, and they are mine to keep. What I don't have are friends to share ideas with or gain new perspectives on life; but that's ok it will change soon. Eve- rything in this place is temporary, even death! Ever get the feeling you have done this before? That's because you have, you just haven't figured it out yet....

I think I will get a tattoo! How about the symbol for pi? Sounds good to me! Pi in the sky....

Life the ride

Imagine your life as a really good roller coaster with like seven g's. It's that fast and that good, so good in fact that just before the ride is over they wipe your memory clean of ever having been on the ride. Then before you get out they have the nerve to ask you if you want to go again. It's the ride you can never get off. And the upside is you never really get bored of it, because you don't remember the last time. You get all the joy and the rush of riding the roller coaster each time. After a few million times you start getting the feeling that maybe you have done this before, but the ride is still fun. So eventually they let you off that ride and you go to the next ride, it works the same way; as a matter of a fact all the rides in the park work that way; they wipe your memory clean of ever having been on the ride. Some people have been in the park for billions of billions of years.

So life in this universe is like being in a theme park; you go from one roller coaster (life) to the next roller coaster (life) until they close the park. You don't have control over the roller coasters because they are on tracks, but since the ride is fun you never notice small things like that. Most people never leave because they hid the exit behind a brick wall. Personally I would like to tear the brick wall down and walk out of the park forever. But until then I guess we will just have to enjoy the rides and make the best of it. Did I mention that they have several hundred billions of roller coasters? Yeah it's a big park - enjoy the ride!

Let me know if you find that brick wall...

Smart People

sums it up. I guess that I am a bit of a dreamer when it comes to my ideas; I am always pursuing the impossible dreams. Like the time we were at lunch with work mates and out of no where I come up with the idea of stopping time. Everybody was a little surprised. But I still think it's a great idea; to stop time while allowing everyone the freedom of movement. That's impossible right? But I can still dream about it!

Maybe I should put my thoughts into perspective; Most all of them are impossible, that doesn't keep me from believing that they will happen. It just means that the probability of such a thing happening becomes so astoundingly high (642,042,042,042 to 1 against) that it might just happen. Douglas Adams had some intelligent things to say in the Hitch Hikers Guide to the universe about probability. I would like to see some of that applied to this world. After all anything is possible with God!

Albert Einstein once said that he wanted to know Gods thoughts; I like that idea. But you don't have to be a rocket scientist to have a great mind. I also like what Eleanor Roosevelt said: "Great minds discuss ideas; Average minds discuss events; Small minds discuss people." I think that really Someone very smart once said that for every ac- tion there is an opposite and equal reaction. Now I won't claim to have that figured out yet; because I haven't got a clue. But I have theories on how this works. I wonder about things like what is a rock. What effect does smashing rocks have upon the future? Why do aliens hate rocks? Do they see something we don't? What would it be like to see what is really here for what it is? I would like to discover these things and more. Are we in a time warp? I believe we are; but want to find out for sure. So many things to discover, is any- body out there question- ing the little things?

That's my left foot in the above photograph, it's part of a series I am doing on my left foot. See yesterdays post for more...

Would you know your friends if. . .

They were in different bodies? what if you both had died and where reincarnated in new bodies? How would you recognize old familiar people from the people you didn't care for. You could end up being friends with the wrong people if you were not very careful! Would you be able to find me? I think it's important to know your friends very well; so well in fact that by one word you know each other even in different lifetimes. The day will come when people remember their past lives; but that is in the future.

Someday peoples faces will change everyday and everyone will have to wear name tags to know who each other are. I know it won't last long, but long enough to become very distressing. Remember to laugh about it; because it's really very funny. What ever happens just remember that it's temporary!

Poem:

How I long to See old familiar faces. The ones from long ago. How I wish to greet them and give them My love. And what of you? Can you forgive me for these actions? Many of them will hate me, the price to pay for making a choice. Should you walk a mile in these shoes; would it prove my promise? I only want to be loved.

Did you know. . .

... The sky isn't blue It's transparent. ... My car won't go over 60

... Perspective is everything

... No one sent me their ideas

... I wrote everyday this week, no one noticed and the chips are down

... One of my friends dropped me

... I am not bitter about it

... Time in other dimensions runs at different speeds then time here.

... So I could be gone for millions of years but be back in a few years earth time. ... The answer to Life The Universe and everything is forty two

... I now have a photo blog in addition to my real blog.

... I started smoking; well that was a year ago...

... I drink coffee almost every day

... The place that served good biscuits and gravy is closed for business. ... My desk is a mess.

... I had sushi for lunch and dinner.

Listening to Tori Amos, The Beekeeper. Great album pick it up today.

Not for everyone

So the writing found below is not for everyone; it's not light and fluffy. But I do hope you find some of it funny. This writing is for myself and for those who will read my blog in the future. Most people will find it difficult to apply to their day to day lives at the time of this writing. But I hope that future generations will find some benefit from what I have written. With that said it still isn't for everyone; if you have any doubt that it's for you then read no further. . .

Nothing new to talk about; but my day did get better. That's a good thing! Want to make the world a better place? Smile - it's a small start but it works.

Old hands. . .

I was told at a very young age that I had the hands of an 80 year old man. Not surprising I believe that I am already billions of years old; my soul at least. I would like to know how old I really am. But there is a painful memory associated with that idea that I shall not discuss here. I know I am special; I just wish other people could see what I see. A good lighter will last a lifetime; A good friend eternity. That's the kind of people I am looking for; ones that will be there for me even in different lifetimes; and likewise I will be there for them. We have a long time to go, make the best use of the time you have.

Nothing is clearer yet. . .

I have three basic questions that I need to have answered; 1. Who am I? 2. Where are we? 3. Why are we here? I understand complex things; I believe that I am more than what anyone would ever imagine. I believe we are not where we think we are; and I have no clue as to why we are really here. I have ideas on all three questions; but every- thing seems hazy when it comes to putting the puzzle together. But I need answers to those questions and more. If you have ideas on those questions please let me know.

Penny for your thoughts

Not to buy them from you; more of my investment in you. Get in the habit of leaving a penny on tables where you sit. Don't pick them up when your done, leave them right there. And if you sit at a table that has a penny sitting on it add one yourself, heads up. Who knows maybe someday with enough pennies we can make a collect call to God and ask for a favor. Just don't leave dimes or nickels on tables for very long that might mess things up; wrong kind of metal. And as far as far out ideas goes the only one I have right now is that the universe is a sphere; and it's contents travel in vast circles through the ether. Speaking of the universe have you seen the new trailer for the Hitch Hikers Guide To The Galaxy?

Did you know. . .

... Apples are better than oranges; orange is a color and you shouldn't eat that! ... Pepsi or Coca cola? Answer: Pepsi; don't you see the warning on coke cans? ... Everything has a name.

... Tattoos last a very long time; think twice before getting ink done.

... Stickers are bad news, don't put them on your skin or clothing.

... Dust Jackets should be left on your books; this is important.

... You shouldn't chain smoke; use a lighter each time.

...More to come soon.

How far down the rabbit hole would you go?

So I just watched what the bleep do you know. This movie brought tears to my eyes, I have never heard it better; it was if this movie was made for me. Personally I know that I am going all the way down the rabbit hole; I have no choice I want to make it to the other side. The question is how far would you go? Most people find madness and in- sanity going down the rabbit hole; but if you can handle asking the tough questions then you might survive what is to come. Experience liberation separate yourself from your addictions. Find the answers to the questions for yourself. Come to know what I know and experience life from an entirely new perspective. We are more than we can ever dream, become what you have always wanted to be. Don't wait until tomorrow or let doubt plague you; NOW is the time to create and become something great. Your thoughts have an impact on the entire world; keep that in mind when you are thinking. Working together we have a chance to survive, united we stand; divided we fall.

Idea for online company

The virtual friend company; specializing in making you feel better about not having friends. There is so much that can be done with this idea but here is a start, where you take it next is up to you.

Hire a staff of talented and highly creative writers have them create fifty characters all with different personalities and profiles. There should be an equal number of men and women. Some of the friends are great, some of the friends will drop you once or twice and then stabilize. They are all busy so they don't have time to go out with you, but they share their experiences along the way. The client gets to hear from them twice a week. Every year there should be a party for all the clients, all the clients show up but the friends never show up; after all they are busy people. Make it fun, make it funny, make it almost believable.

Funny

The future of the known world is in your hands; that's right it's up to you to correctly in- stall paper towels and toilet paper in the holder. Since everyone is faced with the same problem I have taken photographs showing the correct way and the wrong way to in- stall paper products. If the known world suddenly disappears then it's because people couldn't follow basic instructions and the directions on a box of toothpix drove one man insane. (He now refers to himself as wonko the sane)

Correct way to install paper products.

Incorrect way to install paper products.

Protect the planet, protect life and don't forget to flush!

The pieces have all been put together.

It's no longer a question of if. The choices have already been made; the tough deci- sions made. If you don't like them then I suggest you go fuck yourself. Because things are never going to be the same. They think they are so smart. . . I suggest reading up on your history because I know how this game ends.

Like a ball of yarn this planet and the things in it will unravel and come to nothing. There are no places to hide, there is no where to run. It's my turn and I have great an- ger towards those who are against me. Every time they try to do something against us, we shall successfully carry out each decision that has already been made. Until we win or there are no people left.

I will gladly accept their surrender; or a complete withdraw from my things, food, and this planet with no further acts of hostility towards me or my people. The choice is theirs; for your sake I hope they will listen to reason. Because the other options make hell look like a walk in the park.

Here's to the crazy ones. The misfits.

The rebels.

The troublemakers.

The round pegs in the square holes. The ones who see things differently. They're not fond of rules.

And they have no respect for the status quo.

You can praise them, disagree with them, quote them, disbelieve them, glorify or vilify them.

About the only thing you don't do is ignore them.

Because they change things.

They invent. They imagine. They heal.

They explore. They create. They inspire. They push the human race forward.

Maybe they have to be crazy.

How else can you stare at an empty canvas and see a work of art? Or sit in silence and hear a song that's never been written?

Or gaze at a red planet and see a laboratory on wheels?

We make tools for these kinds of people.

While some see them as the crazy ones, we see genius.

Because the people who are insane enough to think they can change the world, are the ones who do.

I believe there is one piece of the puzzle missing and that is what I am going for? but when Can I start having sex with the ladies? maybe now that feels like the only thing missing.

I feel much to tired to as much as I would like this morning. Another day with out the loving I so much would like to have.

So I am pissed off about the past in the fact that I haven't been able to be with the opposite sex, and rightfully so those would have been good times. So when will that finally change?
